Residents dish up seven tons of food

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Each year the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) union food drive in Antioch is more successful than the one that preceded it. This year, residents carried 13,900 pounds of food out to their mailboxes for carriers to pick up along with the outgoing mail.

"We distributed the 13,900 pounds of food to local pantries," said union steward Todd Erickson. "We brought 6,000 pounds of food to St. Peter, 6,000 pounds to the Antioch Community Food Pantry and the remaining 1,900 pounds went to the township."

He added, "We really want to thank the Piggly Wiggly for letting us park trucks out front for donations, and to the Baskin-Robbins/Dunkin' Donuts for collecting food and offering a discount as an incentive for people to donate."

Co-sponsors of the food drive with NALC are the U.S. Postal Service, the United Way of America and local United Ways throughout the country, and the AFL-CIO Community Services division. Other national supporters include the United Auto Workers/Saturn Union Partnership Initiative and Saturn retailers.

Local sponsors include local postal management, National Rural Letter Carrier Association and the American Postal Workers Union.

"This was really a successful food drive," said Erickson. "We appreciate everyone who participated."

Dist. 34 Foundation gets support from golf, bricks

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Dist. 34 Foundation raises money to cover some expenses that cannot be covered through the general education fund. According to the trustees, the foundation is eligible to apply for funding through a variety of sources not available to the school board.

Current fund-raising efforts include the August 15 golf outing at the Antioch Golf Course, an ongoing brick drive for both Hillcrest and Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS), and ongoing grant writing.

The foundation is seeking both monetary and manpower support. Ideas can be shared with the foundation by calling the district office at 395-8400 or by contacting any of the foundations trustees: Kathy Wilson, president; Mary Turner, vice president, Kathy Johanson, secretary; Theresa Kovach; Debbie Horan; John Kakacek; Garnet Carney; Kevin Koch; Tracy Ano and Greg Stevens.

The sale of commemorative bricks for the entrances of AUGS and Hillcrest Elementary School will raise money needed to help improve technology, music, art, library resources and other educational opportunities.

The "scholar" size brick, 4 by 8 inches, is available for $49.95. The "graduate" size brick, 8 by 8 inches, is available for $99.95. A camera-ready logo can be included for an additional $75.

Donations are tax deductible to the full extent of the law. Mail payment for a commemorative brick along with the school desired, name address, phone and inscription of up to five lines and 13 characters including spaces to: Kathy Wilson, 10 Hennings Court, Antioch, IL 60002.

Police golf outing benefits community

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Registration is taking place for the 14th annual golf outing sponsored by the Antioch Police Association and the Fraternal Order of Police, lodge 210 to take place on June 13 at the Antioch Golf Club with dinner to follow at Maravella's.

"Most of the money goes back to the community," said Sgt. Jim Foerster. "We sponsor lots of things from baseball teams to doing things like sending flowers to funerals."

A maximum of 144 golfers will be allowed to participate. "We'll have eight people on a hole," said Foerster.

"We usually sell out of the golfing tickets, but even if we do, people can come to the dinner that follows. That's where most of the raffles and things take place."

Foerster said many come to golf and have their spouses join them for dinner. "We'll probably have about 250 people at the dinner."

The grand prize will be a Jamaican vacation for two that includes air and hotel, and was arranged by Travel by design in Antioch. "We usually have things like sets of golf clubs, bicycles, a really good charcoal grill and a screen room for the deck that we raffle off," Foerster added.

Soft spikes only are allowed at the Antioch Golf Club. There is a shot-gun start at 12:30 p.m. sharp, and check in begins at 11:30. A hot dog and bratwurst lunch is served. The cost for golfing is $65 per person and includes 18 holes of golf, cart, lunch, dinner and prizes.

There is a cash bar cocktail hour from 6-7 p.m. at Maravella's before the dinner buffet begins at 7 p.m. The buffet will include beef, chicken, mostaccioli and all the accompaniments such as vegetables and potatoes for $22 for the dinner only.

For more information, call Chief Charlie Watkins, Lt. Ron Roth or Foerster at 395-8585, ext. 116.

Brighter signs ordered

Motorists driving the Lake County Highway system will soon have the benefit of brighter warning signs thanks to a new Lake County Division of Transportation project to replace high priority warning signs with fluorescent yellow signs.

The new signs will particularly benefit an aging population, with the over-50 generation expected to increase by 50 percent by the year 2006.

Studies show that as a person gets older night vision decreases about 50 percent every 13 years.

The Lake County Division of Transportation will be replacing the high priority warning signs, which include curves, chevrons and large arrow signs.

The higher reflective warning signs will give drivers adequate time for proper response at a greater distance and with more clarity, which will improve driver safety on the Lake County Highway system.

Fair offers surprises

The gates to the 2001 Lake County Fair open at 8:00 am on Tuesday July 24. Expect some of the standard "fair" this year such as the Demolition Derby and the Motocross, but also expect some surprises.

"We just signed a contract," said Kacy Sehmer, public relations and advertising coordinator for the Lake County Fair. "We're 99% sure that we'll feature the 'Monster Truck Showdown.' Then we'll also have them return annually like the Derby and the Motocross," Sehmer said. "We also have a magician. We've had one before, but not last year. So the magician is back. His show is called 'The Magic of Bob Bohm.' We also have a roaming puppet show called 'Rodney Rooster & Chicken Coop,'" said Kacey.

Sehmer also is excited about a contest the Lake County Fair is running in conjunction with Lakeland Newspapers. "You'll get the entry form in the paper, and drop it off at the Fair. It's one big prize package. A John Deere tractor, a color TV, a set of golf clubs. Lots of other prizes. It'll be given away the last day of the fair," she said.

ACHS student represents JILG at state legislative day

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School (ACHS) student Shannon Day was chosen to represent Jobs for Illinois Graduates (JILG) at the "Faces of JILG" legislative day in Springfield.

Nancy Fenton teaches two JILG classes at ACHS to help students transition smoothly from high school into college, the military or the workforce. Three hundred fifty hours of service learning is tied into the curriculum.

The legislative day was set up to give the legislature a chance to meet the students who benefit from the program and to hear those students' personal testimonies. About 30 schools with JILG programs participated.

At the core of the JILG classes are 37 competencies viewed as desirable worker traits and skills by both career/job specialists and employers, among them are demonstrating team membership and leadership, and upholding commitment to an organization.

Day, who is president of the Illinois Career Association (ICA)/JILG club for ACHS, met with both elected officials from the area as well as others from around the state to describe the JILG program and its benefits for students.

Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) and Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) in turn offered Day the opportunity to learn more about the process of government in a private office meeting and a meeting on the floor with Geo-Karis, and during a tour of the capitol arranged by Osmond.

Fenton said, "ACHS can be proud of the professionalism and enthusiastic way that Shannon represented her school, community and JILG throughout the event."

Help available for parents of children with disabilities

We all have wishes and hopes for our children. As parents, we want our children to reach their potential and achieve all they are capable of. We want them to enjoy a rich and full life with many friends. Most importantly, we want them to be happy. For parents of children with developmental disabilities, the dream is still the same.

In recent years, society has begun to realize that individuals with developmental disabilities have the ability to live fulfilling, happy, and more independent lives, but there is still a great need for places they can go to achieve these things.

There is a place in the Northern suburbs of Chicago that allows children and adults with developmental disabilities to fulfill these dreams. It is the country's first community center that caters specifically to the developmental and social needs of people with a primary disability of mental retardation.

The Center for Enriched Living, a non-profit organization located in Riverwoods, offers life enrichment, social and skill development activities, not housing, for people with a primary disability of mental retardation. "The Center," as it is affectionately called by its members, is a beautiful place which offers members a way to meet friends, play games, and learn skills for independent living. The Center's home in-

of friends for its members, but it also gives parents piece of mind, knowing that their child is happy.

"My husband and I were just beside ourselves trying to find a place we could send our son to have a normal life," said Cindy Scholl, the parent of a teenage member. "Then we found The Center, and discovered that Matt can have friends and his own social life, just like his two brothers. He knows that The Center is his special place to go. It makes him happy, and that makes life easier for all of us."

That has been an important effect of The Center's work. "We are here to help members, but in the process, we make life better for the whole family," said Denise Jaffe, director of program services at The Center. Every parent wants their child to live a happy, fulfilling life. The Center has helped achieve these things for the thousands of members who have participated in their activities since the first programs began in 1968.

For more information about the many vital programs offered at The Center for Enriched Living, call 948-7001, or visit their web site at www.centerforenrichedliving.org.

High school walks 5 million steps

The National Association of Sport and Physical Education (NASPE) declared the month of May "national physical fitness and sport month," and to support that Antioch Community High School (ACHS) physical education department go the entire student body, faculty and staff involved in a challenge to walk 2 million steps in the first week of the month.

Forty-four members of the faculty and 1,627 students participated in this promotion. Students accumulated steps during P.E. classes and during various fitness activities over the weekend. Faculty accumulated steps by wearing pedometers during school hours.

The physical education department determined that about 2,100 steps make up a mile.

Those achieving a mile were given "shoes" with their names and number of steps recorded on the shoes and placed on a banner in the school. Participants updated their shoes to reflect new totals.

Ralph Runnfeldt, a member of security, accumulated the most steps with a total of 130,577.

One objective of this promotion was to get people enjoying fitness. According to the P.E. department, the recommended number of steps to achieve daily fitness and cardiovascular fitness is 10,000 or more.

Deb Rummel, department chairwoman for physical education, health and driver's education said, "This is the first year of this promotion. Our goal was 2 million steps, but the actual total turned out to be 5,052,965 steps. That converts to be about 2406 miles of steps."

She added, "If we started in Antioch, we could have walked to Los Angeles, walked to Miami and returned, and even gotten to Alaska and back. Next year's goal may have to be 7 million steps."

The Antioch Garden Club is holding its annual spring sale for the home and garden. The "garden goodies sale" takes place on May 19 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. at 154 E. North Ave.

Indoor plants, perennials, seeds, vegetables, annuals, used books, homemade baked goods and unique decorator items will be available for sale.

Master gardeners will be available for consultations, so bring questions and take away some great ideas.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Pantries restocked

Recently the Antioch Post office conducted their ninth annual food drive to benefit our community. Once again it was a tremendous success. Over 13,900 pounds of food was collected for the Antioch community Food Pantry, St. Peter's Food Pantry and the Antioch Township Food Pantry.

This event can only be successful with the help of people like you and your neighbors. We know the generous contributions of Antioch residents will help feed families in our own community.

On behalf of the employees at the Antioch Post Office, the National Association of Letter Carriers Branch 409, and the three local food pantries, a heartfelt thank you to each Antioch resident.

Head-to-head book battle pits 7th-graders

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Two final teams of members each of seventh graders at Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) went head to head in the second annual battle of the books competition after eliminating nine other teams in five previous battles. Students spent months reading 26 books, bought by the PTO (eight copies each), to prepare for the competition.

It worked out that it was the boys against the girls with Casey Bemis, Annie Bousson, Ellen Hebron, Sarah Lenkowski and Samantha Nelson up against Travis Hernandez, Nick Johnson, Zack Johnson, Loren Klick and Scott McAlonan in the final. The boys were victorious scoring 50 points to the girl's 21.

The teams were presented with 12 clue-type questions, read by principal Eric Skoog, and had 30 seconds to give the name of the book and the author. The opposing team could "steal" if the questions were not answered within the allotted time.

"The books kind of stuck with you," said Nick Johnson as he explained that studying was difficult for this competition.

"It wasn't hard to read the books on the list," said Loren Klick. "They were all good books."

The teachers, who each had to read one of the 26 books on the list, provided the questions for the competition.

Antioch Dunkin' Donuts and Antioch McDonald's both donated coupons for all of the participants.

Camp Crayon registration for Antioch residents will be held on June 2 from 9 a.m.-noon at the parks office.

Two morning sessions will be available, one on Mondays and Wednesdays and the other on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Both will take place from 8:20-11 a.m.

The number of students is limited to 26 per class, each with four teachers.

Open registration for non-residents will be held on June 4 from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at the parks office.

Calcified plaque causes narrowing and blockage, which could lead to a heart attack. The heart risk assessment further evaluates your probability of heart disease, based on a comprehensive health risk analysis of your lifestyle, cholesterol and blood glucose levels, blood pressure and more. #### No valid driver's license Lukasz A. Ludzinski, 23, of 2325 1/2 N. Rockwell in Chicago, was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license on May 13 at 11:40 a.m. at the intersection of Bayshore and Hillside.

Police observed the vehicle to have a defective/cracked windshield. A check through LEADS of Ludzinski's identifiers confirmed that his Illinois driver's license expired Jan. 23, 2000.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for having a defective windshield and for driving with no valid driver's license.

Ludzinski was released on personal recognizance pending his June 27 court date.

Cresencio Rodriguez, 29, of 1332 N. Hickory Ave. in Round Lake, was arrested for driving with no valid driver's license on May 12 at 6:05 p.m. on Main St. and Beach Grove Rd.

Police stopped the vehicle for having no registration plates. An applied for sticker was in the front windshield when it should have been in the back.

The officer observed Rodriguez was not wearing a seatbelt.

A check of his identifiers through LEADS/NCIC/SOS returned information that Rodriguez's license had been cancelled for a fraudulent license application.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for no valid driver's license and failure to wear a seatbelt.

Rodriguez was released on personal recognizance pending his June 27 court date.

Retail theft

Heath Edward Meyer, 23, of 1730 N.E. Industrial Parkway in Aurora, was arrested for retail theft on May 12 at 12:10 p.m. at the Piggy Wiggly at 460 Orchard.

Loss prevention specialists at the grocery store saw Meyer put two Snickers king size candy bars into his pants pockets and leave the store. The store worker confronted Meyer and contacted police.

Meyer was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued a non-traffic ticket for theft. He told police he worked for the carnival and had not eaten since Thursday.

He was released on bond pending his June 13 court date.

Suspended driver's license

Kathleen M. Debarge, 25, of 43429 Park Terrace in Antioch, was arrested for driving with a suspended driver's license on May 11 at 7:08 p.m. on Hillside at North Ave.

Police responded to a complaint of a vehicle with three unsecured children last seen turning north onto Hillside from Orchard. The officer conducted a routine stop and saw all three children secured with proper seat belts.

A check of Debarge's identifiers through LEADS/NCIC came back with information that her license was suspended.

One officer transported the children to the police station while another placed Debarge under arrest.

She was transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued a citation for driving while suspended. She was released on personal recognizance pending her June 13 court date.

Debarge was returned to her children.

Possession of cannabis

Roland K. Alber, 47, of 9949 272nd Ave. in Trevor, Wis., was arrested for possession of cannabis on May 9 at 10:05 p.m. on Tiffany Rd. at Lake St.

The vehicle was stopped for failing to use its turn indicator. While standing next to the driver door, police could smell the strong odor of burnt cannabis coming from the driver compartment of the vehicle.

Police asked if there was cannabis in the car and Alber said there was not, the smell was coming from his clothing. Alber gave police verbal consent to check the vehicle.

The officer located at partial cannabis cigarette on the driver's side floorboard of the vehicle, and Alber was arrested for unlawful possession of cannabis under 2.5 grams.

At the police station, the cigarette tested positive for cannabis.

Alber was given an additional traffic ticket for failure to signal.

He was released on personal recognizance pending his June 13 court date. The cannabis was placed in the evidence locker.

Warrant arrest

Edward D. Bueche, 21, of 3001 Greenbay Rd. in North Chicago, was arrested on warrant on May 9 at 6:01 a.m. on Main St.

Police saw Bueche, known from prior contact, sitting in mini park on Main St. A check through LEADS/NCIC/SOS via dispatch came back with information that he was currently wanted for larceny through the Waukegan Police Dept. with $20,000 bond, 10 percent applies.

Bueche was arrested and told police he would not be able to secure the required bond.

The Waukegan Police Dept. was contacted and picked up Bueche from the Antioch Police Dept.

Judge has a strong message for students

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Though the course taught by Joe Hibbner at Antioch Community High School is "business law," when Lake County Judge Ray McKoski came to speak to the class of sophomores, juniors and mostly seniors he got to the business of speaking frankly about drugs and alcohol.

"About 80 percent of the people a judge sees in court have a drug and or alcohol problem. No matter what the offense, theft or assault, drugs and alcohol are involved," said McKoski. "People do things on drugs and alcohol that they wouldn't normally do. I would say the drug or alcohol cause it necessarily, but..."

McKoski, who has been a judge in Lake County for 16 years and a prosecutor for 13 years before that, told the students that sentencing is the hardest thing a judge does. He wanted students to know what types of sentences are attached to different classifications of crimes, and what crimes fit within the different classifications.

A person found guilty of a class X felony will serve six to 30 years, and does not have the option of probation. "In some of the cases some people can get some time taken of the sentence, and will end up serving 50-85 percent of the sentence," said McKoski.

McKoski stressed that one doesn't have to sell drugs but only deliver drugs for it to be a class X felony. "The delivery, not the sale, of more than 15 grams (or drugs like cocaine, or doses of drugs like LSD and ecstasy) is a class X felony," he said. "And, delivery of ANY amount within 1,000 feet of a school is a class X felony."

The judge related a story of a teen from a nearby wealthy suburb who sold $50 worth of drugs where the prosecutor allowed him to plead guilty to a lesser felony making him eligible for probation.

"I don't know if anybody explained the consequences that a conviction carry. That conviction will always be there, and will effect this young man's ability to pursue certain careers," said McKoski. "He'd bring me his report cards and he'd make the honor roll. He had things he wanted to do with his life, and he didn't need the $50."

McKoski told the students not to get involved with drugs. "Even dopers (in the 60s) quit using LSD because it's poison," he said.

Hibbner asked about the "rave party" drugs like ecstasy. McKoski responded, "You need an expert. Ecstasy is bad news in itself, but one-half of the stuff be sold under that name is not X. This other drug can raise the body temperature to 107 degrees, and can cause bleeding from every orifice. It's extremely dangerous."

Under the influence

a first-hand look at the effects of alcohol below the legal DUI limit

nearly 2 a.m. on a Saturday morning, a local village police officer, with a reputation for being one of the best DUI-catchers in his department, was cruising the back roads looking for anything that didn't fit.

Ahead, a car with out-of-state plates seemed to be moving too fast. The officer turned on his radar, and clocked the driver's speed at 66 mph in a 40 mph zone.

He followed for a short distance, as the car made a wide "barnyard" turn, its tires crossing the double yellow line along the way.

The speed and the wide turn are two visual cues police use to identify possible suspects driving under the influence of alcohol. The driver went through the course of field sobriety tests. He swayed, as he tried to complete walk-and-turn tests. He lost a letter or two as he recited the alphabet. When he tried to touch his thumb to his fingers in sequence, he could not connect his own flesh with flesh.

Back at the police station, after the prescribed 20-minute interval, the driver was tested on the court-approved Intoxilizer, with a reading of .139 blood alcohol content (BAC). While police can charge anyone who is too impaired to drive, regardless of BAC, at .08 or above, the state considers it serious enough that it treats intoxication at or above that level as a separate charge.

He was photographed and fingerprinted. It was not a unique experience for the driver, who already had his license suspended for two DUI convictions.

A phone call, and $300 later, the alleged drunk driver was on his way home, with a summons to court.

His car was taken away for a state-mandated 12-hour period.

As local village reporters, we write about drunk drivers every week. We see their stories on police blotters. Sometimes, we have to write about the terrible effects they wreak on other people's lives.

What amazes us, when reading these reports, is how often drivers arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol seem unaware of their own impairment.

Drivers tested at .08 BAC or above will insist that they are not drunk. The great majority will insist they've only had "a couple of beers" all evening.

Our curiosity overwhelmed us. We wanted to know two things: how much alcohol does it take to reach .08 BAC (the level at which the State of Illinois considers a person officially intoxicated) and at what BAC is a person truly impaired.

What follows is a chronological report of an experiment. Under the watchful eyes of the Lindenhurst Police, Lakeland's Lake Villa-Lindenhurst community reporter Brenda Balin-Beitscher consumed the equivalent of 10 drinks in a two-and-a-half hour period. She was observed by Antioch community reporter Julie Murphy. Many of Brenda's observations about herself are taken from audiotapes made at the time of the experiment.

2:40 p.m.—(BRENDA) I take my first drink. I've had nothing to eat since a light lunch at 1 p.m. I'm drinking rum and Coke, expecting the sugar to speed up the intoxication process.

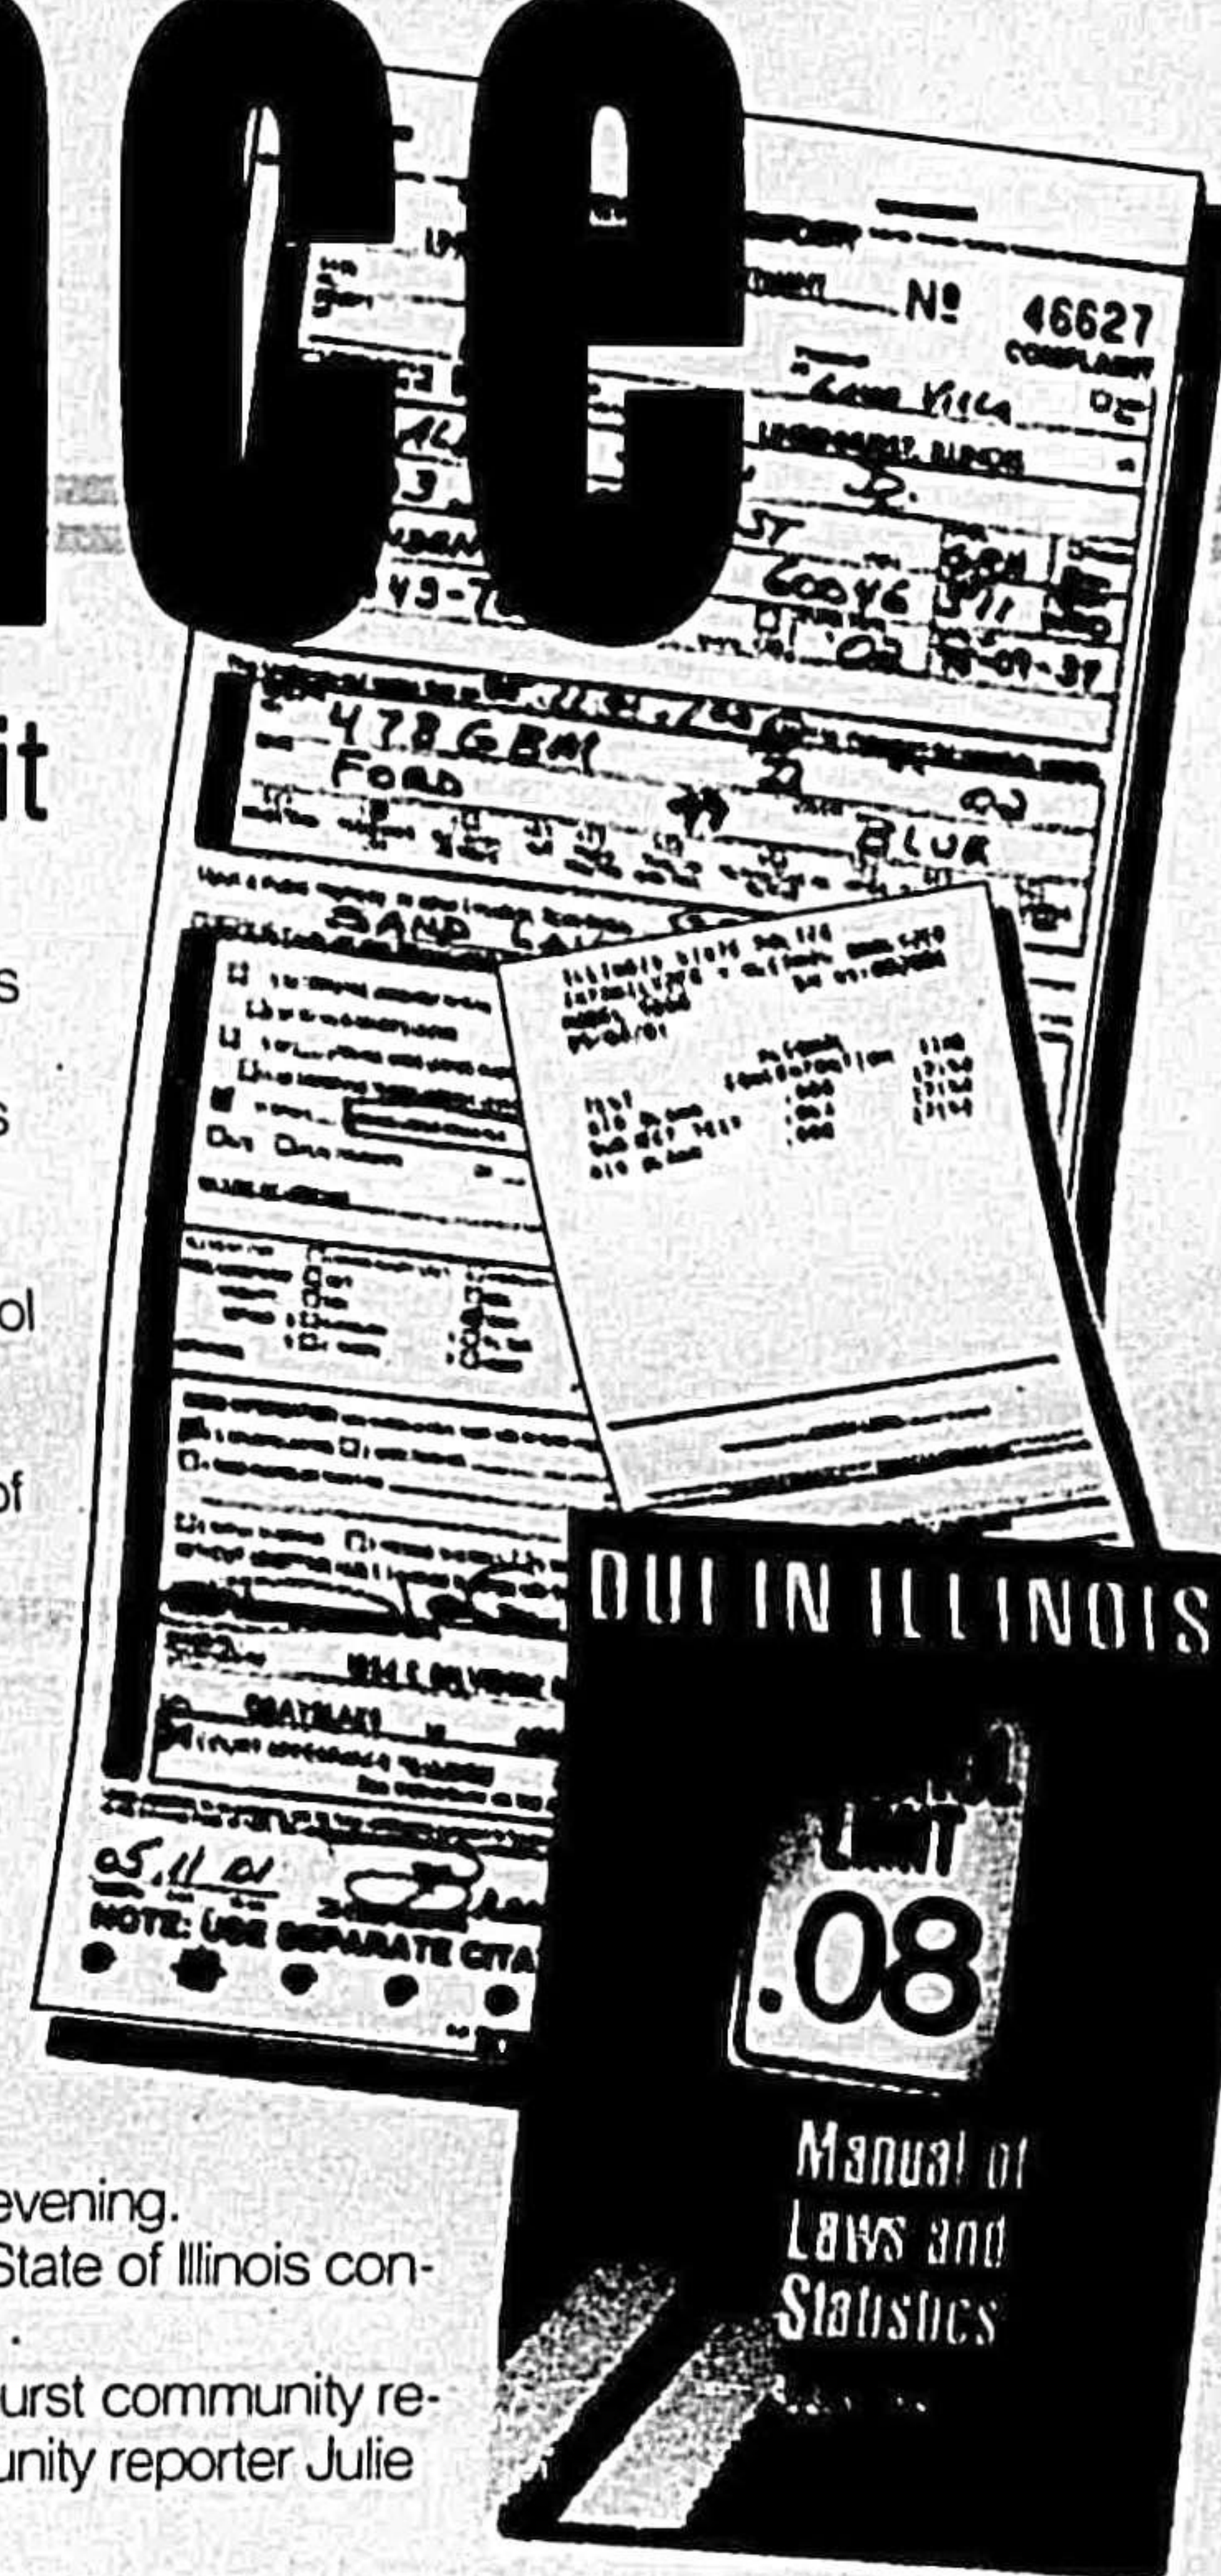

Typically, it takes a male weighing 170 pounds about five servings of alcohol within an hour to reach .08 BAC, while it takes only three drinks for a woman weighing 137 pounds to reach the same level.

3:05 p.m.—(JULIE) Before she began drinking, Brenda performed a few eyehand coordination and memory tests, in addition to standard field sobriety testing, as a gauge for impairment. One of the tests was to sort a box of four different sized screws, and another was to play the children's electronic memory game Simon.

Three drinks for Brenda within 15 minutes renders a reading of .013 BAC. At this level, Brenda shows a slight loss of skills.

Third annual Great Chicago Places & Spaces on May 19-20

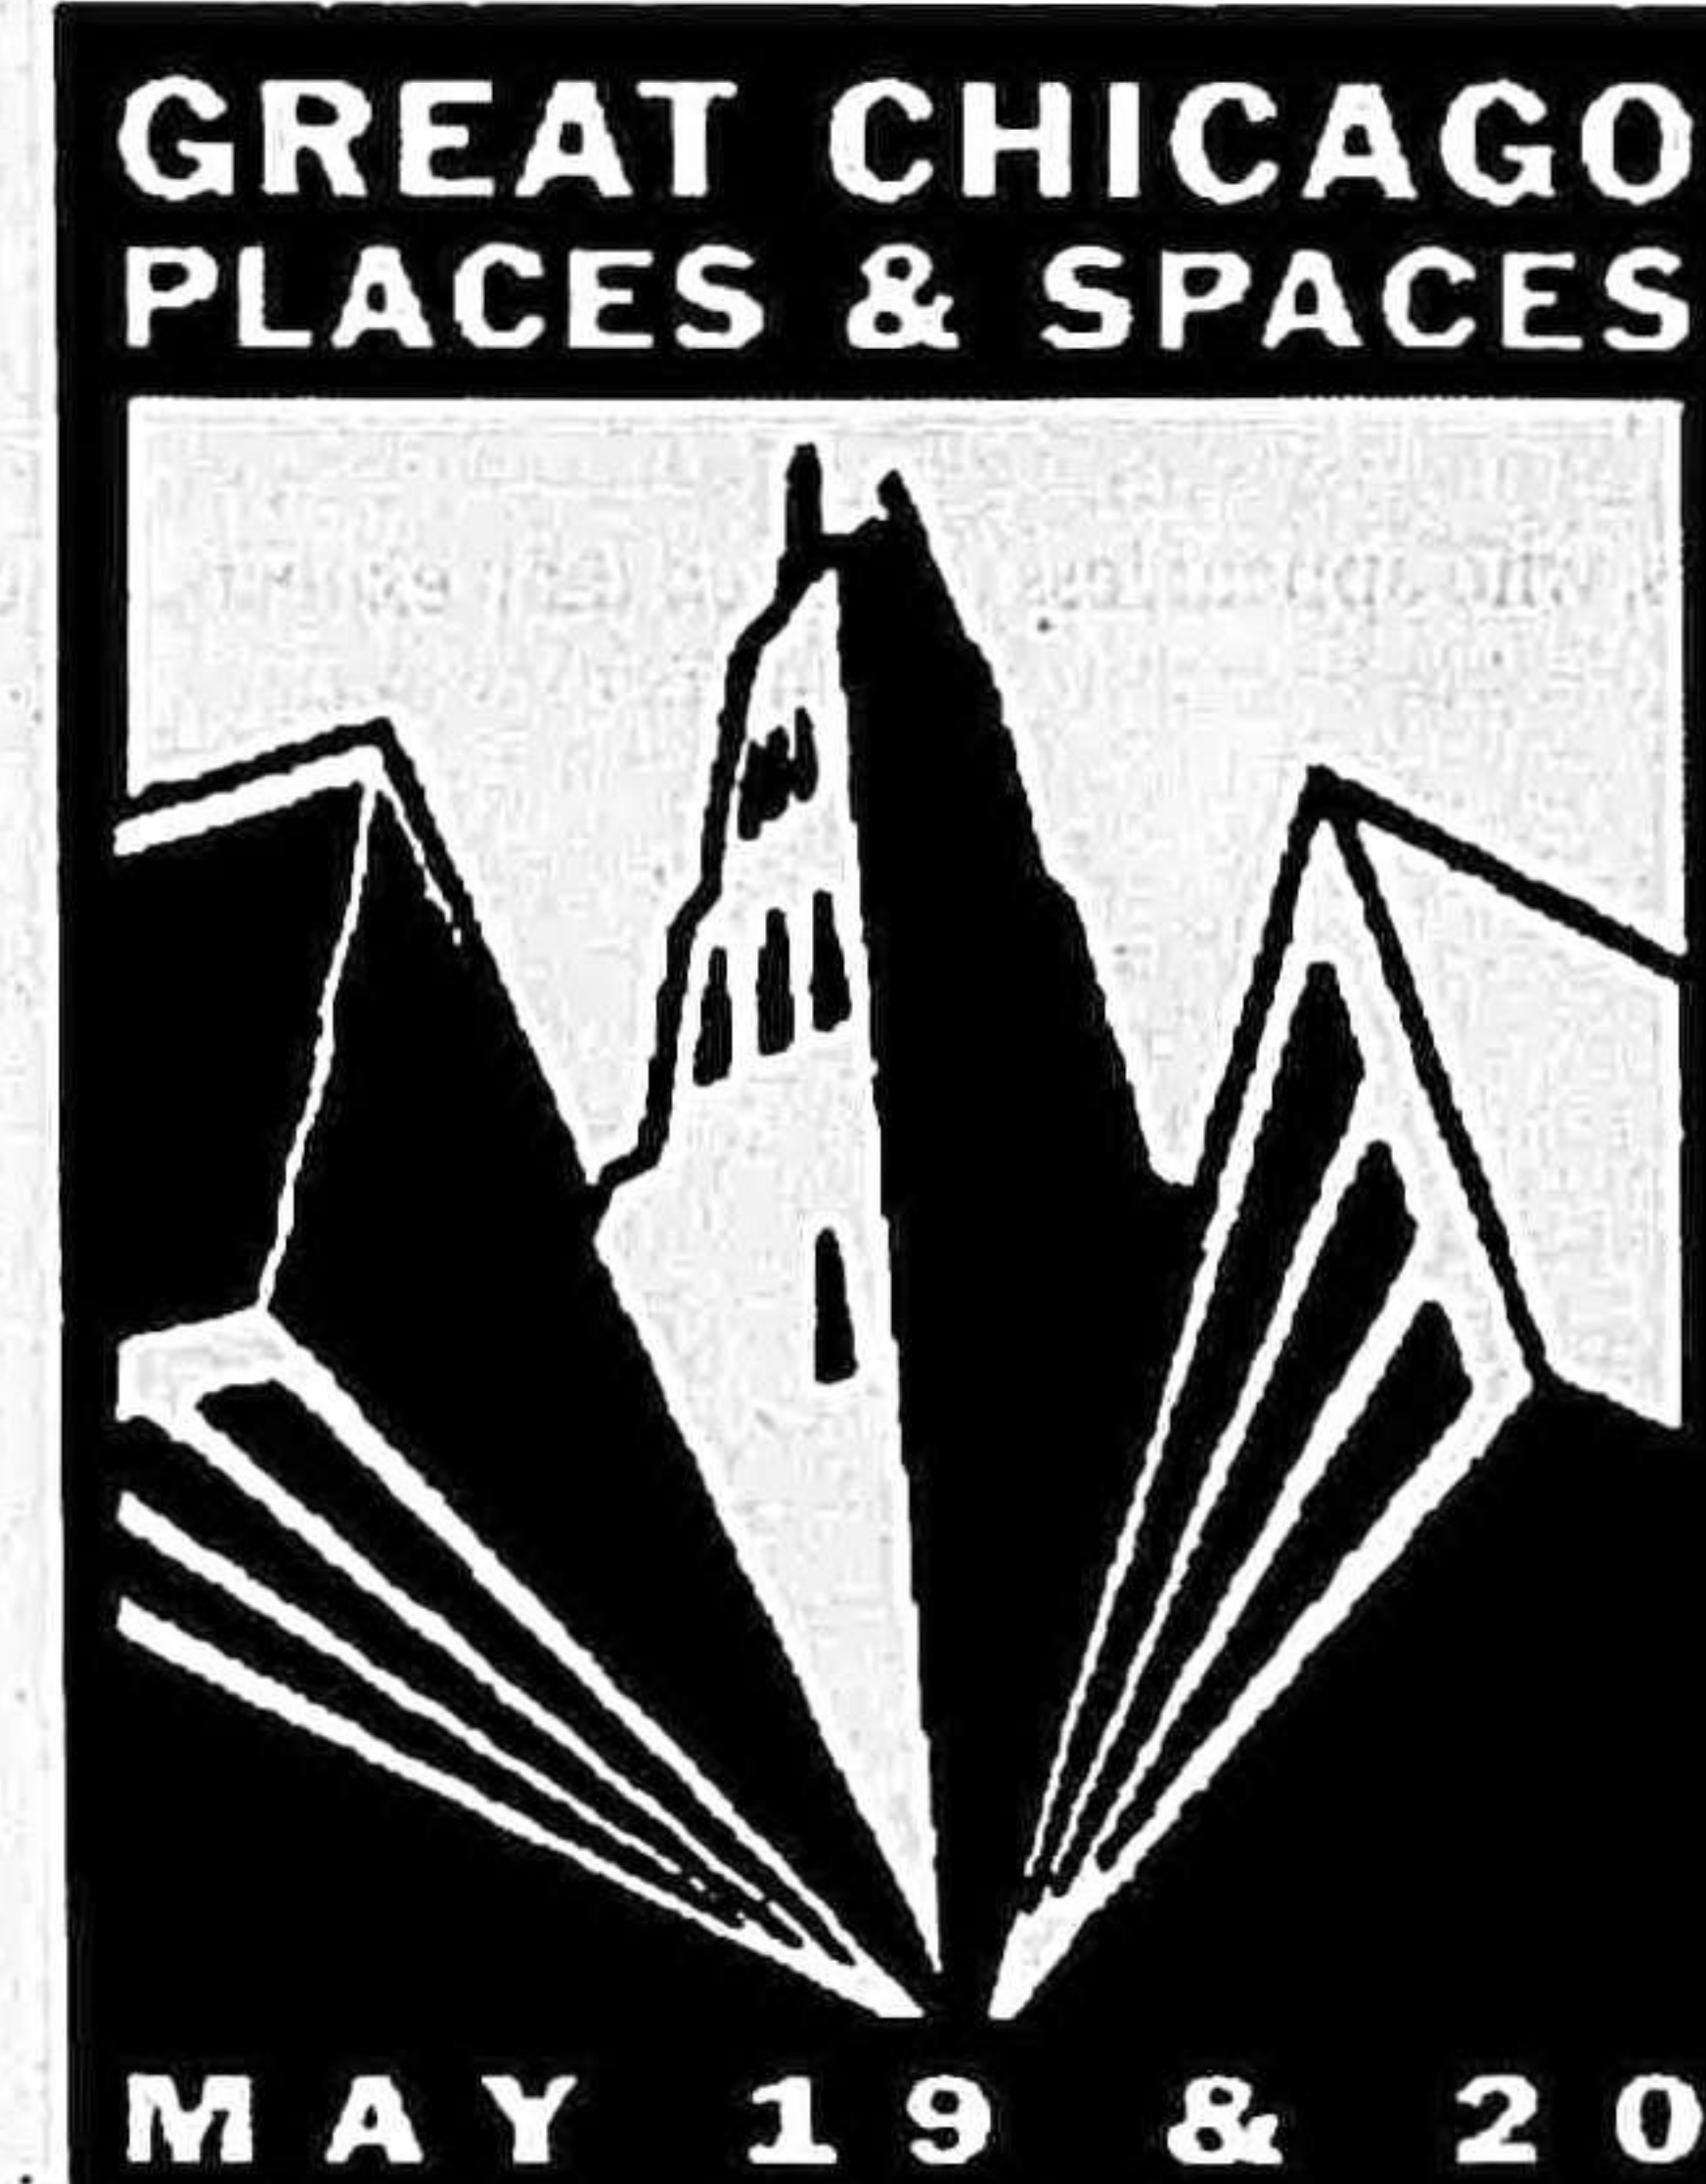

Chicago's treasures are not buried, but rather they stand tall and inviting. This year, the third annual Great Chicago Places & Spaces: Celebrating Chicago Architecture is Saturday, May 19 and Sunday, May 20, and the treasure chest opens even wider as the event highlights the historic Chicago Bungalow, doubles the number of tours and adds "expert" tours.

Great Chicago Places and Spaces is a two-day showcase of the city's great architecture, landscape and interior design, urban planning and historic preservation. Architecture enthusiasts can choose from more than 120 tours including visits to neighborhoods such as the Gold Coast and Maxwell Street, Marshall Field's on State Street and a tour of restored landmarks. All official tours and exhibits are free to the public.

"Expert Tours" will be given by those in the know from the architecture community including critics, historians and noted architects, providing the in-depth, behind-the-scenes knowledge that make these tours one-of-a-kind.

While many noted architects have left their mark on the city, it is the bungalow, attributed to no particular architect, that is most common. This year, Great Chicago Places & Spaces will pay tribute to the bungalow homes, with their detailed windows and stonework, pitched roofs and sheltered entrances with the Bungalow Tour, Sunday, May 20 at 9 a.m.

This program is offered as part of Great Chicago Places & Spaces: Celebrating Chicago Architecture, May 19-20. Programs are coordinated by the Mayor's Office of Special Events and various other architectural and city organizations. For more information, call (312) 744-1362 or visit www.cityofchicago.org/specialevents. For specific tour information, contact Tour Headquarters at the Chicago Architecture Foundation at (312) 922-3432, or visit www.architecture.org.

Ten most endangered historic places

Historic properties from throughout Illinois have been placed on this year's "Ten Most Endangered Historic Places" list by the Landmarks Preservation Council of Illinois (LPCI).

Each year since 1994, LPCI has selected the ten most endangered historic places in Illinois, focusing attention on sites threatened by negligence, deterioration, lack of maintenance, insufficient funds, inappropriate development or insensitive public policy. The sites have architectural, historical or archaeological significance and each enjoys community or statewide support for its preservation, which means there are options for each to be preserved.

INFLUENCE

While we hypothesized that she would take a few seconds off of the screw-sorting test because it was the second time she was sorting the screws, her task time remained the same. Additionally, Brenda had initially completed six rounds of Simon successfully, and now is only able to complete five.

(BRENDA) I read aloud a short passage from "Moby Dick" as one of my self-imposed tests. I hesitate on one word, and misread another, and I feel myself having to concentrate more to make my mouth move correctly. The tape played back, shows I am not yet slurring my words, but it is an effort to keep my speech clear. Julie says she is surprised my BAC isn't higher than .013. Officer Eric Senica, observing and administering breath and field sobriety tests, explains that most people at .04 feel they are too intoxicated to drive.

"A lot of people think they blow a lot higher than they do (on breath tests)," he says.

I admit if I felt this way at a party, I might be inclined to try to drive, albeit with excessive caution. I might be one of those people who drive more than 10 mph below the speed limit, one of the 20 visual cues used for stopping suspected DUIs.

3:35 p.m.-(JULIE) After one hour and five drinks, Brenda's BAC is .025. The time it took to sort the screws went from 2 minutes 45 seconds to 4 minutes. While she still successfully completed five rounds of Simon, her mistake on the sixth round was quick and obvious.

Being a friend, coworker and former bartender, I would not let Brenda drive at this level of impairment. Her behavior and speech are self-conscious, and she literally looks tipsy—a slight sway is working its way into her composure.

(BRENDA) Officer Senica and I discuss cases of people with exceptionally high BAC levels, who appear less impaired than expected. He explains habitual drinkers may appear less intoxicated, but can still be charged based on their BAC readings. On the other hand, people who show significant impairment in the range of .05-.08 BAC can be charged with DUI. Below .05 BAC, the state will most likely not uphold DUI charges.

I am coherent, but working hard at keeping my thoughts and voice clear.

After my fifth drink, I definitely feel stoned. I don't know how people can drink enough to get more drunk than I am right now.

Officer Senica explains the difference between social drinkers (who probably drink more than I usually do) and alcoholics or habitual drinkers who have a greater tolerance for alcohol. I don't think I've ever had more than three drinks in an entire night.

I try "Moby Dick" again. It is very difficult to make my tongue wrap around the words. The letter "s" causes consternation.

When I sort the screws, my fingertips feel thick and clumsy, and it is difficult to differentiate between the longest screw and the second longest.

I have to work hard to say the word "Intoxilizer."

When I recite the alphabet, I am almost, but not quite, singing the tune in my head, to help me remember the sequence.

5:00 p.m.-(JULIE) After eight drinks and a BAC of .051, Brenda is intoxicated by most anyone's definition. She admits, "I feel a certain sense of disconnection and unreality."

She swayed and wasn't always able to touch the tip of her nose during field sobriety testing. Though able to recite the alphabet well enough, she held her breath through all 26 letters. Even an untrained eye could see her involuntary eye twitching as she tried to follow the pen back and forth for the officer performing the test.

(BRENDA) I'm feeling giddy, giggling a lot and speaking very freely about myself. I wonder what I look like. Lindenhurst Police Chief

ARRESTING OFFICER Senica

Jack McKeever thinks I would be fun to videotape right now. I'm not so sure about that. I'd be afraid to drive now. I've drunk about a third of my 750 ml. bottle of rum.

The screw-sorting test feels clumsy. The test has become not so much about sorting sizes as about getting the screws successfully from my hand to the correct receptacle. I was five seconds slower than last time.

Officer Senica tests my eyes for nystagmus (the trembling that normally occurs beyond 45 degrees from center, as the eyes track a moving pen). I see two pens as my eyes reach about 40 degrees from center. A diagram used by police indicates that when onset of nystagmus occurs at 40 degrees, it is likely the BAC will be at or over .10.

5:40 p.m.-(JULIE) By the time we leave the police station, three hours after the experiment began, Brenda has consumed ten drinks. She blew .063 BAC on the Intoxilizer and had to use the walls to support herself as she walked.

(BRENDA) My last drink was a double. I can't say I especially enjoyed it. I am glad that Julie is driving me home. I can barely make my feet move. Julie says she would not have let me drive after my third or fourth drink. I have some double vision. My fingertips feel slightly numb.

I am aware that I am working hard to stay in control, but I know that if I were in a social situation, I'd probably allow myself to experience more of the effects of intoxication than under this experiment.

We end the experiment, well before the .08 BAC legal limit, getting me home while I can still walk up the stairs.

The next day, I consider the Memorial Day weekend, which traditionally is considered the "kickoff" of summer. According to statistics compiled by Mothers Against Drink Driving (MADD), on Memorial Day weekend in 1999 there were 500 traffic fatalities nationwide. Of those, 249 were alcohol-related.

After this experiment, there is no doubt in my mind that, given the assumptions we all make about our abilities after a few drinks, it is a miracle the numbers were that low, and no surprise that the percentage was that high.

As for me, I will honor the memory of our war dead by toasting them with soft drinks, and staying alive.

Glencoe community to build Habitat home

Eight congregations serving Glencoe and the surrounding communities have come together with Habitat for Humanity to build a house in the city of North Chicago. Glencoe Interfaith Builders, the first such collaboration in the history of Lake County Habitat, comprises Arm Shalom, Congregation Hakafa, Glencoe Union Church, North Shore Congregation Israel, North Shore United Methodist Church, Sacred Heart Church, St. Elisabeth's Episcopal Church, and St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Several months ago, an anonymous donor approached a member of St. Elisabeth's, offering the church a sizeable initial contribution toward the funding and construction of a Habitat for Humanity house. The church's Outreach Committee suggested the Habitat house could instead become a joint project of all Glencoe congregations. "I took the idea to the Glencoe Clergy Association," said St. Elisabeth's Rev. Phil Kasey. "I was armed with all sorts of lengthy explanations and reasons why I thought it was a good idea," he said, adding, "However, what they wanted to hear was not why to do it, but how to make it happen!" Rev. Kasey now guides a steering committee of 17, with members from each congregation, who are in turn recruiting fundraisers, organizers and builders from within their own memberships.

Volunteers from each of the congregations and the community will raise the balance of the funds – and then, together, raise the roof. May 20 has been chosen as the inauguration day, with fund drives and addresses at many Glencoe services. Julie Donovan, executive director of Habitat for Humanity Lake County, will join Rev. Phil Kasey on the lawn of St. Elisabeth's at 11 a.m. that morning for a symbolic signing of a two-by-four beam to be incorporated in the house itself. Many Habitat homeowners opt to have such donor-autographed beams left exposed as a permanent reminder of the community spirit that built their homes.

Groundbreaking at the North Chicago site is slated for the afternoon of Sunday, Sept. 9, with construction to begin on Tuesday, Sept. 11. There will be opportunities for people of all ages to participate, from school age on up, although on-site workers must be 16 years of age or older. Donations by individuals, corporations or organizations – of material, money or manpower – may be made by contacting any of the member congregations or Habitat for Humanity Lake County, 623-1020. Habitat for Humanity is a not-for-profit organization. Contributions are tax-deductible.

THEATRE

An American Shakespeare Theatre version of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" by Tennessee Williams is now playing at the Attic Playhouse, 410 Sheridan Rd. in Highwood. Performances will be held at the Christian Arts Auditorium, 2500 Dowie Memorial Dr. in Zion, on Fridays, May 17 and 25 at 7 p.m.; Saturdays, May 19 and 26 at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m.; Tuesday, May 22 at 9:30 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. and Sunday, May 27 at 2 p.m.

Theater presents comedy

"I Hate Hamlet," a comedy by Paul Rudnick, will run on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. now through May 26 at the Northbrook Theater, 3323 Walters Ave. in Northbrook.

A young and successful television actor relocates to New York, where he rents a marvelous, Gothic apartment. He is offered the opportunity to play Hamlet on stage, but there's one problem: he hates Hamlet. His dilemma deepens with the entrance of John Barrymore's ghost, who arrives intoxicated and in full costume to the apartment that once was his. The contrast between the towering, dissipated Barrymore whose Hamlet was the greatest of his time, and Andrew Ralby, hot young television star, leads to a wildly funny duel over women, art, success, duty, television and the apartment. For additional information, call 291-2367.

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20

You have to put your plans on hold early in the week, Aries, because that special someone needs your help with a personal problem. Do what you can for him or her, and don't be upset about it. You know that he or she would do exactly the same for you if the situation was reversed.

Taurus – April 21/May 21

Be a bit daring this week. Instead of just hanging out at home, go out with friends when they ask you. You know that you're sure to have a good time. Besides, you need to unwind a bit. Don't be afraid to let your hair down. That special someone has a surprise for you on Saturday. Enjoy.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

You don't know which way to turn this week, Gemini. There is so much to do and very little time to get it all done. Don't become overwhelmed. Just take a deep breath, and relax. If you stay calm, you're sure to figure out the best way to handle everything. Those close to you will be impressed with your efforts.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

Don't wear your heart on your sleeve when you meet an interesting person late in the week. Your intense interest is sure to scare him or her off. Try to stay calm. Let this person make the first move. A close friend offers you some constructive criticism. Listen to what he or she has to say.

Leo – July 23/August 23

Don't get upset when a loved one lets you down this week. He or she doesn't mean to hurt you. Unfortunately, that is just how it works out. Don't let this affect your relationship, because this person is very special to you. An acquaintance asks you out on Tuesday. Say yes.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

An acquaintance asks to borrow money on Wednesday. Before saying yes, find out why it's needed. There is more going on here than meets the eye, and you need to know the facts before getting involved. If this person won't be honest, you can be sure it's a situation you need to steer clear of.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

A close friend needs someone to talk to early in the week. Be there for him or her — even if you're not sure what you can do. Just listening will help this person a lot. Be supportive. Your efforts will be appreciated. Gemini plays an important role in all of this.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't get overwhelmed when a loved one asks a favor of you on Thursday. If you look at the situation, it's not as daunting as it first appears. So, do what you can for this person. Your efforts will be rewarded. An acquaintance asks you an important question. Be honest with him or her.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

When talking with a business associate about a problem, you have to be blunt to get your point across. That's the only way to make this person understand the situation. So, don't beat around the bush. The higher-ups will be impressed with your forthrightness. Pisces is involved.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

This is your week to make progress on an important personal project. Don't let others distract you from the task at hand. Stay focused, and work diligently. That is the only way to get ahead. Your determination will impress those close to you. That special someone asks a favor of you. Do what you can for him or her.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

When it comes to making plans for the week, be realistic, Aquarius. You can't do everything that you hope to do. So, set your priorities, and work on the most important things first. You'll be surprised at how much progress you actually make. Virgo plays a key role on Monday.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

Don't be afraid to go after what you want this week. You certainly deserve it, but no one is going to hand it to you. However, if you work diligently, you can reach your goal with no problem. So, get moving. Accept help from a loved one if you need it.

'Shrek' offers irreverent humor for all

I have seen "Shrek" twice now and two words keep coming to my head to describe it: hilarious and irreverent.

This second attempt by DreamWorks to create an animated masterpiece was far more successful than their first attempt with "Prince of Egypt."

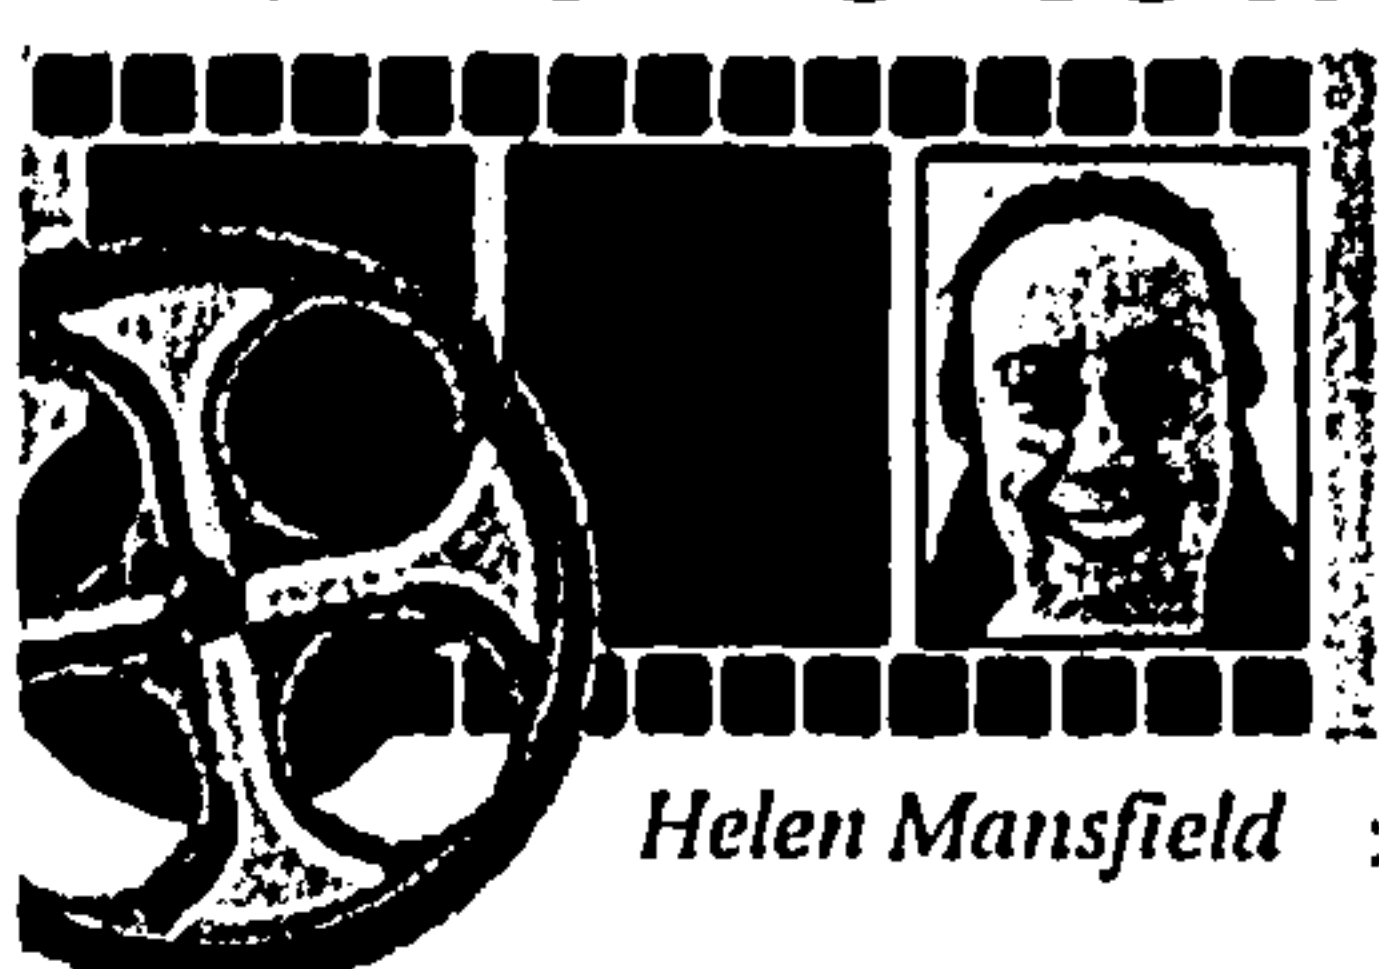

Knowing the history of DreamWorks makes most of the film references more understandable. Jeffrey Katzenberg, co-founder of DreamWorks with Steven Spielberg and David Geffen, left Disney on not-so-good terms.

As head of DreamWorks' animation end, he is grinding many axes with his former employer through "Shrek."

The film stars the voice of Mike Myers as Shrek, a solitary ogre in an enchanted land. He is content living his ogre lifestyle, scaring away villagers until he comes across a talking donkey, starring the voice of Eddie Murphy.

Villagers attempt to capture the two of them for reward money which is being offered by Lord Farquaad (played by John Lithgow), who is trying to gather up all the fairy tale creatures and move them to a new settlement.

All the creatures end up in Shrek's swamp, making him quite testy.

Shrek and Donkey begin their quest to find Lord Farquaad, only to get to his "perfect kingdom" of Duloc where they get drafted to locate a princess bride (played by Cameron Diaz) for Farquaad. If they complete the quest, Shrek will get his swamp back.

Princess Fiona is locked in a tower in a castle that is surrounded by molten lava and protected by a fire-breathing dragon.

Shrek uses some unconventional ways to rescue the Princess, which go against the Fairy Tale pattern and makes her quite cranky. This is only compounded for the Princess when she finds that her suitor Farquaad hired Shrek to rescue her.

At every humorous turn, Katzenberg gets a jab in at Disney taking stabs at "Cinderella," "Pinocchio" and other classics. Everyone has seen the commercial where the Seven Dwarves show up at Shrek's cottage with Snow White.

"Oh, no! Get the dead broad off my table!" he yells to them to which they reply "But the bed's already taken." Shrek goes to his bed to find the Big Bad Wolf in Grandma's clothes. "What!?" he asks them in an Italian mob voice.

The movie goes on to make fun of "The Matrix," "Riverdance," and Animated characters Donkey (Eddie Murphy) and Shrek (Mike Myers) are on a wacky adventure to save Princess Fiona (Cameron Diaz) in the new DreamWorks animated film "Shrek" which opens today nationwide.

even the age-old classic "A Christmas Carol."

The cast of voices was a real treat. Myers does a great voice for Shrek, reminiscent of his Saturday Night Live skit "All things Scottish," and Lithgow's Farquaad is the perfect blend of evil and silly.

Like most animated features, this movie has more hidden references that will be appreciated by parents and there is some questionable language which merits the PG-13 rating, but there is enough disgusting ogre-action to keep the kids giggling.

There is also the usual "Hunchback of Notre Dame" lesson to be learned; don't judge people by their appearance.

As I like to say "there's something for everyone" in Shrek, which I predict will be a tough movie for Disney to beat this summer with "Atlantis."

WHERE MOVIE GOING IS FUN AND AFFORDABLE

Lively 'West Side Story' worth retelling

Another opening, another revival. Drury Lane Oakbrook, in Oakbrook Terrace, sticks with the familiar for its current season opener, with an ambitious staging of "West Side Story."

CRITIC'S CHOICE

The musical, which first opened on Broadway in 1957, was conceived by Jerome Robbins (based on a book by Arthur Laurents,) with a score by Leonard Bernstein and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim.

Some of the dialogue now borders on the quaint, but the balletic dance numbers and romantic show tunes of this American classic prove its saving grace. And, while it may not be the definitive production of "West Side Story," director Ray Frewin's dynamic cast pumps life into this modern version of "Romeo and Juliet."

The familiar story focuses on the forbidden romance between Tony, a Polish-American who has outgrown the street gang he founded, The Jets, and Maria, a pretty Puerto Rican girl who happens to be the sister of Bernardo, leader of a rival gang, The Sharks. Both factions are sitting on an emotional tinderbox, their animosity fueled by racial prejudice. It's no wonder that the two sides come to blows in a bitter street fight.

Brian Herriott and Marie Svejda are the stary-eyed lovers naive enough to believe they could single-handedly end the acrimony.

Other winning performances come from Dan Proctor (as Bernardo,) Andre Lupp (Riff) and Tammy Mader (Anita.)

The romantic ballads alone are worth the price of admission, from

"Maria" and "Tonight" to "One Hand, One Heart" and "Somewhere." Jeff Bell provides excellent musical direction.

See "West Side Story" through May 27. Ticket information is available at (630) 530-0111.—By Tom Witom

The Taffetas

Journey through the fabulous fifties

Terry James, Executive Producer of the award-winning Marriott Theatre in Lincolnshire, is proud to present "The Taffetas." Opening May 23, "The Taffetas" runs through July 28.

Join us for an entertaining, fun-filled, stroll down a musical memory lane when four singing sisters from Muncie, Indiana make their New York television debut in "The Taffetas." "The Taffetas" will bring you over 40 sock hoppin', be-boppin' hits that are bigger than the fins on your Pontiac and serenade you with such Hit Parade classics like - "Shh-Boom," "Mr. Sandman," "Johnny Angel," "Sincerely," and the "Tennessee Waltz." Rumor has it that Ed Sullivan is watching. This could be their big break! Maybe they will even be invited to appear on "Toast of the Town." So sit back and enjoy these classic '50s hits of yesterday, because "The Taffetas" are headed to prime time and are about to skyrocket to stardom.

"The Taffetas" stars Chicago's musical darlings Roberta Duchak, Anne Gunn, Susie McMonagle and Rachel Rockwell as the pride of Muncie, Indiana!

Director, Mark Lococo, returns to the Marriott Theatre to direct "The Taffetas." Mr. Lococo previously brought the 1997 hit production of "Nunsense" to the Marriott stage. Jennifer Kemp Lupp returns to the Marriott Theatres the choreographer for "The Taffetas" after receiving critical acclaim for her choreography in last season's box office record breaking hit "The King and I." "The Taffetas" also includes musical direction Brad Haak, set design by Thomas M. Ryan; lighting design by Diane Ferry Williams; costume design by Nancy Missimi; sound design by Duncan Edwards; and property design by Kathy Klaisner.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist ORTHOTICS

You have only 1 pair of feet, so it's a good idea to take care of them. Most foot pain is a result of a faulty relationship between the bones and muscles in the foot. Even the slightest misalignment, of the bones and muscles can cause a lot of discomfort. Misalignment can result in a number of problems, such as pronation, flat feet, persistent ankle sprains, bunions, corns, calluses, even back and neck pain. Orthotics can help these problems. Prescription orthotics are custom made orthopedic devices which correct your individual foot problems. They're made of high impact material such as plastics and super strength woven fibers and are designed to be inserted right into the shoes. The most important feature of a pair of orthotics is they're made specifically for your feet. As your foot rests on the orthotic, it is gently and consistently directed into the correct position for walking, running and standing. With a pair of orthotics, pressure points, improper rotation of the foot, and painful muscle strain are eliminated because your foot is functioning properly. If you have any questions regarding orthotics, call Dr. Lee Tisa for a no cost consultation.

The new service will last 45 minutes and will run from 5-5:45 p.m.

"Everyone is welcome," said Black adding that the first year's services will be in the parables of Jesus.

St. Stephen is located on the hill one-third mile south of Rte. 173 on Rte. 59. For

Lost bike-Found cat

Well, the search continues on for the Old Retired Lizards pathetic excuse for a bike that still remains at large. For those of you who might have missed the story, two weeks ago, Ye Olde One's decrepit old bicycle was last seen laying at the corner of Grass Lake Rd. and Bluff Lake Rd. with its big old tires, big old seat, and tastefully stylish orange milk crate strapped to its handle bars. It was patiently waiting for its rightful owner to return when some really desperate, despicable character pedaled it off for his or her own use—what were they thinking.

Well the story continues—the Old Retired Lizard borrowed her daughters fancy modern bike for a spin around the neighbor in search for her own riding machine. Instead of finding her beloved old bike, she came across a little kitten wandering the street. The gray cat, with white markings, followed her a little way down the road before it crept back off into the underbrush. Lizard put it out of her mind until a couple of days later when her and her daughter were driving home along the same stretch of road when, lo and behold, the kitten was once again standing its ground on the yellow line of the roadway. No amount of persuasion could move the kitty from its post, so the Lizard got out of the car and returned home with a new pet. She was determined not to get attached to her new addition to the family, and vowed to keep it in a cozy little shelter in her carport until the rightful owner could be found. She made up flyers and posted them around the neighborhood to no avail, so she once again placed a call to utilize this space for her personal plea. She says the little critter seems to be about 6-9 months old, and enjoys napping in the afternoon with her after a long day at Camp. The only problem begin that little "Carport," as her fur ball has been affectionately named, purrs like a great tiger whenever he gets close to the Old Lizard, thus making it difficult to catch a little afternoon siesta with all that noise going on. So once again, if anybody out there has lost a little gray, male kitten, or found a really ugly, rusty old, orange crate toted bike—call The Old Retired Lizard at 395-5380.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Planning, zoning director may take early retirement

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Bob Silhan, director of planning and zoning for the Village of Antioch, is the second village employee to announce he may take advantage of the early retirement incentive program for employees in the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund (IMRF).

Silhan sent a letter to the mayor and village trustees that said he may retire under this plan on Sept. 30, and has alerted IMRF that he may do so. As with village administrator Tim Wells, the first to announce his intentions, these communications do not obligate him to retire.

Silhan has worked for the Village of Antioch for the past nine years, and has 27 years under the IMRF.

Hoop it up!

So you thought basketball season was over! While there might not be that elusive conference title on the line, other elements step to the forefront - having fun while supporting a good cause.

For instance, a final reminder - the first-ever "When Hoops Worlds Collide" fundraiser basketball game will take place May 19 at 7 p.m. in the main gymnasium. The game will feature co-ed athletic competition, or four games in on.

In the first quarter, the Round Lake High School (RLHS) girls varsity basketball team will compete against School District 116 female staff members. In the second quarter, the RLHS boys varsity basketball team will play the District 116 male coaches.

The male teachers district team will play the female teachers district team in the third quarter.

The fourth quarter will be the highlight as it will be the first time in the history of the State of Illinois that the girls varsity team will play the boys varsity team.

Plenty of half-time and extra curricular activities are also on tap.

There will be Round Lake area Mayors working in the concession stands and a lot of other public officials helping out.

Speaking of the Panthers, a scoreboard dedication for the Round Lake High School baseball field will take place Sat., May 19 at 10 a.m.

The sign was purchased by the athletic booster club. Donations were also given by Maria Lozano, Kevin Amann of Dell Electric, Shogren Fence and parents of varsity players.

The ceremony will then be followed by the sophomores playing a doubleheader.

Mundelein High School will again be hosting the Second Annual Celebrity Basketball game, featuring current Chicago Bears' players versus faculty from West Oak Middle School, Carl Sandburg, Santa Maria, Hawthorn School, Mundelein High and Fremont.

The event will be held Saturday, May 19 in the main gymnasium.

Doors will open at 5:30 p.m. with the West Oak Grade School Bands performing at 6:15. The basketball game will commence at 7 p.m. with halftime entertainment being provided by the Jesse White Tumblers. An autograph session will follow the game, approximately at 8:30.

Last year, the event raised more than $5,000 with all proceeds going to benefit West Oak School.

For more information or if interested in volunteering, please contact West Oak Assistant Principal Lea Keilwitz at 566-9220.

A final reminder that former Grayslake High standout tennis player Sarah Lesinski will be officially inducted on to the Rams Wall of Fame May 23 at the Senior Athletic Awards Banquet, to be held at Stratford Banquet in Grayslake at 6:30 p.m.

Congratulations to Libertyville High School varsity baseball coach Jim Panther, who won his 500th career game after an 8-1 victory over Stevenson May 14. Also, kudos to Round Lake varsity head baseball coach Howard Conkling, who knothed his 100th career victory.

Tune in to AM 1220 WKRS May 19 for the North Suburban Conference title game in baseball. Times and location are yet to be determined.

Special Note: Wishing my mother, Susanah, a very Happy Mother's Day! You deserve only the best!

One fine day for Antioch Youth Baseball

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

Fifty season's ago, the first pitch in Antioch Youth Baseball history was thrown. And 50 season's later, to commemorate the anniversary, Village Trustee Scott Pierce stood atop the dirt mound to deliver the first pitch on opening day.

"It's a real special occasion," said first-year AYB League President Steve Gebauer. "It's a milestone for the community that they've supported little league baseball for this long. It says a lot about the community."

The league was founded in 1952 and has played an important part in shaping the lives of youngsters across the area.

"It's a good league," said Vince Zobel, parent of two AYB ballplayers. "The children are going to learn a lot from this league."

Aside from being the father of Shane, who plays on the major league boys Athletics, and Dylan, who plays for the double A Phillies, Vince Zobel is also the husband to Monique Zobel, who created the logo found across Antioch commemorating the event.

During the opening ceremonies, a proclamation from the state was read by Gebauer honoring the leagues long-time involvement in youth baseball. Plaque presentations were made to long-time sponsors State Bank of the Lakes and First National Bank in Antioch.

Hundreds of people attended the momentous occasion, ranging from family, sponsors, local government, and league supporters, to the players themselves.

"It went beautifully. The bleachers were full, the field was full, and they (people) were lined up all around the fences," said Gebauer.

Sixty teams flocked to Williams Park in Antioch to participate in opening day festivities. From the T-ball league to the major league teams, 30 games were held.

Placed atop the scoreboard in center field was a sign commemorating the fifty years. A gun salute to the flag also took place before the games kicked off last Saturday morning.

"I thought the ceremony was great," said Zobel. "I think the kids were more excited than the parents. They were surprised at the gun salute."

Zobel went on to praise the community, the league, and the sponsors for creating a real cornerstone of the community by donating their time, money, and effort into making the league what it is today.

"The majority of coaches do a great job with the children," he said. "And the sponsors are what makes the league, if it wasn't for them we would have no money to make the league better."

The weather, which remained warm and sunny throughout the day, was the ideal way for the next fifty years in AYB history to begin.

Baba, Love look to make waves at sectionals

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

On May 18-19, McHenry High School will play host to a couple of Antioch High tennis players that on a good day would make for a tough match against anybody.

"On a good day their unbeatable," said Antioch head coach Brian Plinske.

Jason Love, who plays at the No. 1 spot for the Sequoits, and Mike Baba who plays the No. 2 spot, have had seasons that have left nothing but optimism about their chances of qualifying for the state championships.

Love, who currently posts a record of 11-11, went to state last year and is looking for a repeat effort in this year's sectional.

"It's (state) is a big thing for everybody. We're very fortunate to be put in the McHenry sectional. It's just a matter of if we're going to execute," said Love.

The way the sectional is set up if both Baba and Love win out, they will end up facing each other in the finals. Baba however, feels that if it happened to pan out that way, that he would be ready for it.

"Hopefully I'm playing good. If I play good I have a reasonable chance of beating him," said Baba, who was currently losing two games to one in their practice match.

No matter the outcome, Love believes that that would be the perfect ending to a great season.

"That would lead up to a great match," he said. "It would be great for Antioch and us individually. It would be a good close to our four years."

Last week, Love broke the all-time varsity matches played record against Johnsburg when he started his 100th varsity match on May 15. The record is thought to be one of the most difficult to obtain. Girl's varsity player Mandy Hughes broke it earlier this year when she started match number 99.

"You have to be a real iron man. The stat means that you are varsity quality when you walk on the court your first day of school freshman year. It's a big record and he annihilated it (the previous boys record of 81 by J.J. Edwards)," said Plinske.

More than anything, Love was proud of his accomplishments as a team player and not an individual.

"It's certainly a very special honor. Something that I could look back at and be proud of. I'd like to think that this is a milestone that future players will strive to conquer," Love said.

Sequoits brace for post-season

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

The Antioch High School varsity girls soccer team will kickoff its post-season May 19 at 10 a.m. when it hosts Marion Central at Polley Field. The Sequoits going into this weekend were seeded sixth in their sectional. Marian drew the 11th seed.

Antioch has played their best soccer of the year in the last few weeks, winning seven of their last eight games, including three en route to the Stateline Challenge title two weeks ago.

After a week of practice and a weekend of rest, the team is hoping to work out the kinks of early season struggles and go into the game fundamentally sound.

"We'll go over what we've been doing," said head coach Charlie Trout. "We'll emphasize our strengths and work on our weaknesses."

Their last game took place on May 10 and came in the form of a 9-1 routing against Round Lake. Lauren Konrath and leading scorer Emily Niles each contributed with a hat trick. More importantly however, was an assist by Lauren Hungarland that broke the school record for assists in a season.

If they prevail over Marion Central, the Sequoits will likely see a game against Barrington in the second round. Barrington, who has been ranked in the state, will square off against Johnsburg in first-round action.

Along with a current streak containing only one loss, the team is their best physical shape of the year.

"We've had out bumps and bruises but we've played through it, were healthy now," said Konrath.

Konrath also believes that the team has proven to be more of a family as the year has gone on.

"The team has been getting along very well. Even through our ups and downs of the season," she said.

Shore heading to state

On May 11 at the sectional meet for girls track, Antioch had several athletes who placed among the area's best. However, Antioch qualified only one for the May 18-19 state meet at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

Senior Bethany Shore will make her first appearance in the state meet. Shore won the discuss event throwing a sectional-best 124 feet, 6 inches.

"I think she has an opportunity to place in state. She has an ability that really stuck out this year," said first year coach Brent Pitt.

Freshman Lindsey Andrews took third in the pole vault with a vault of eight feet.

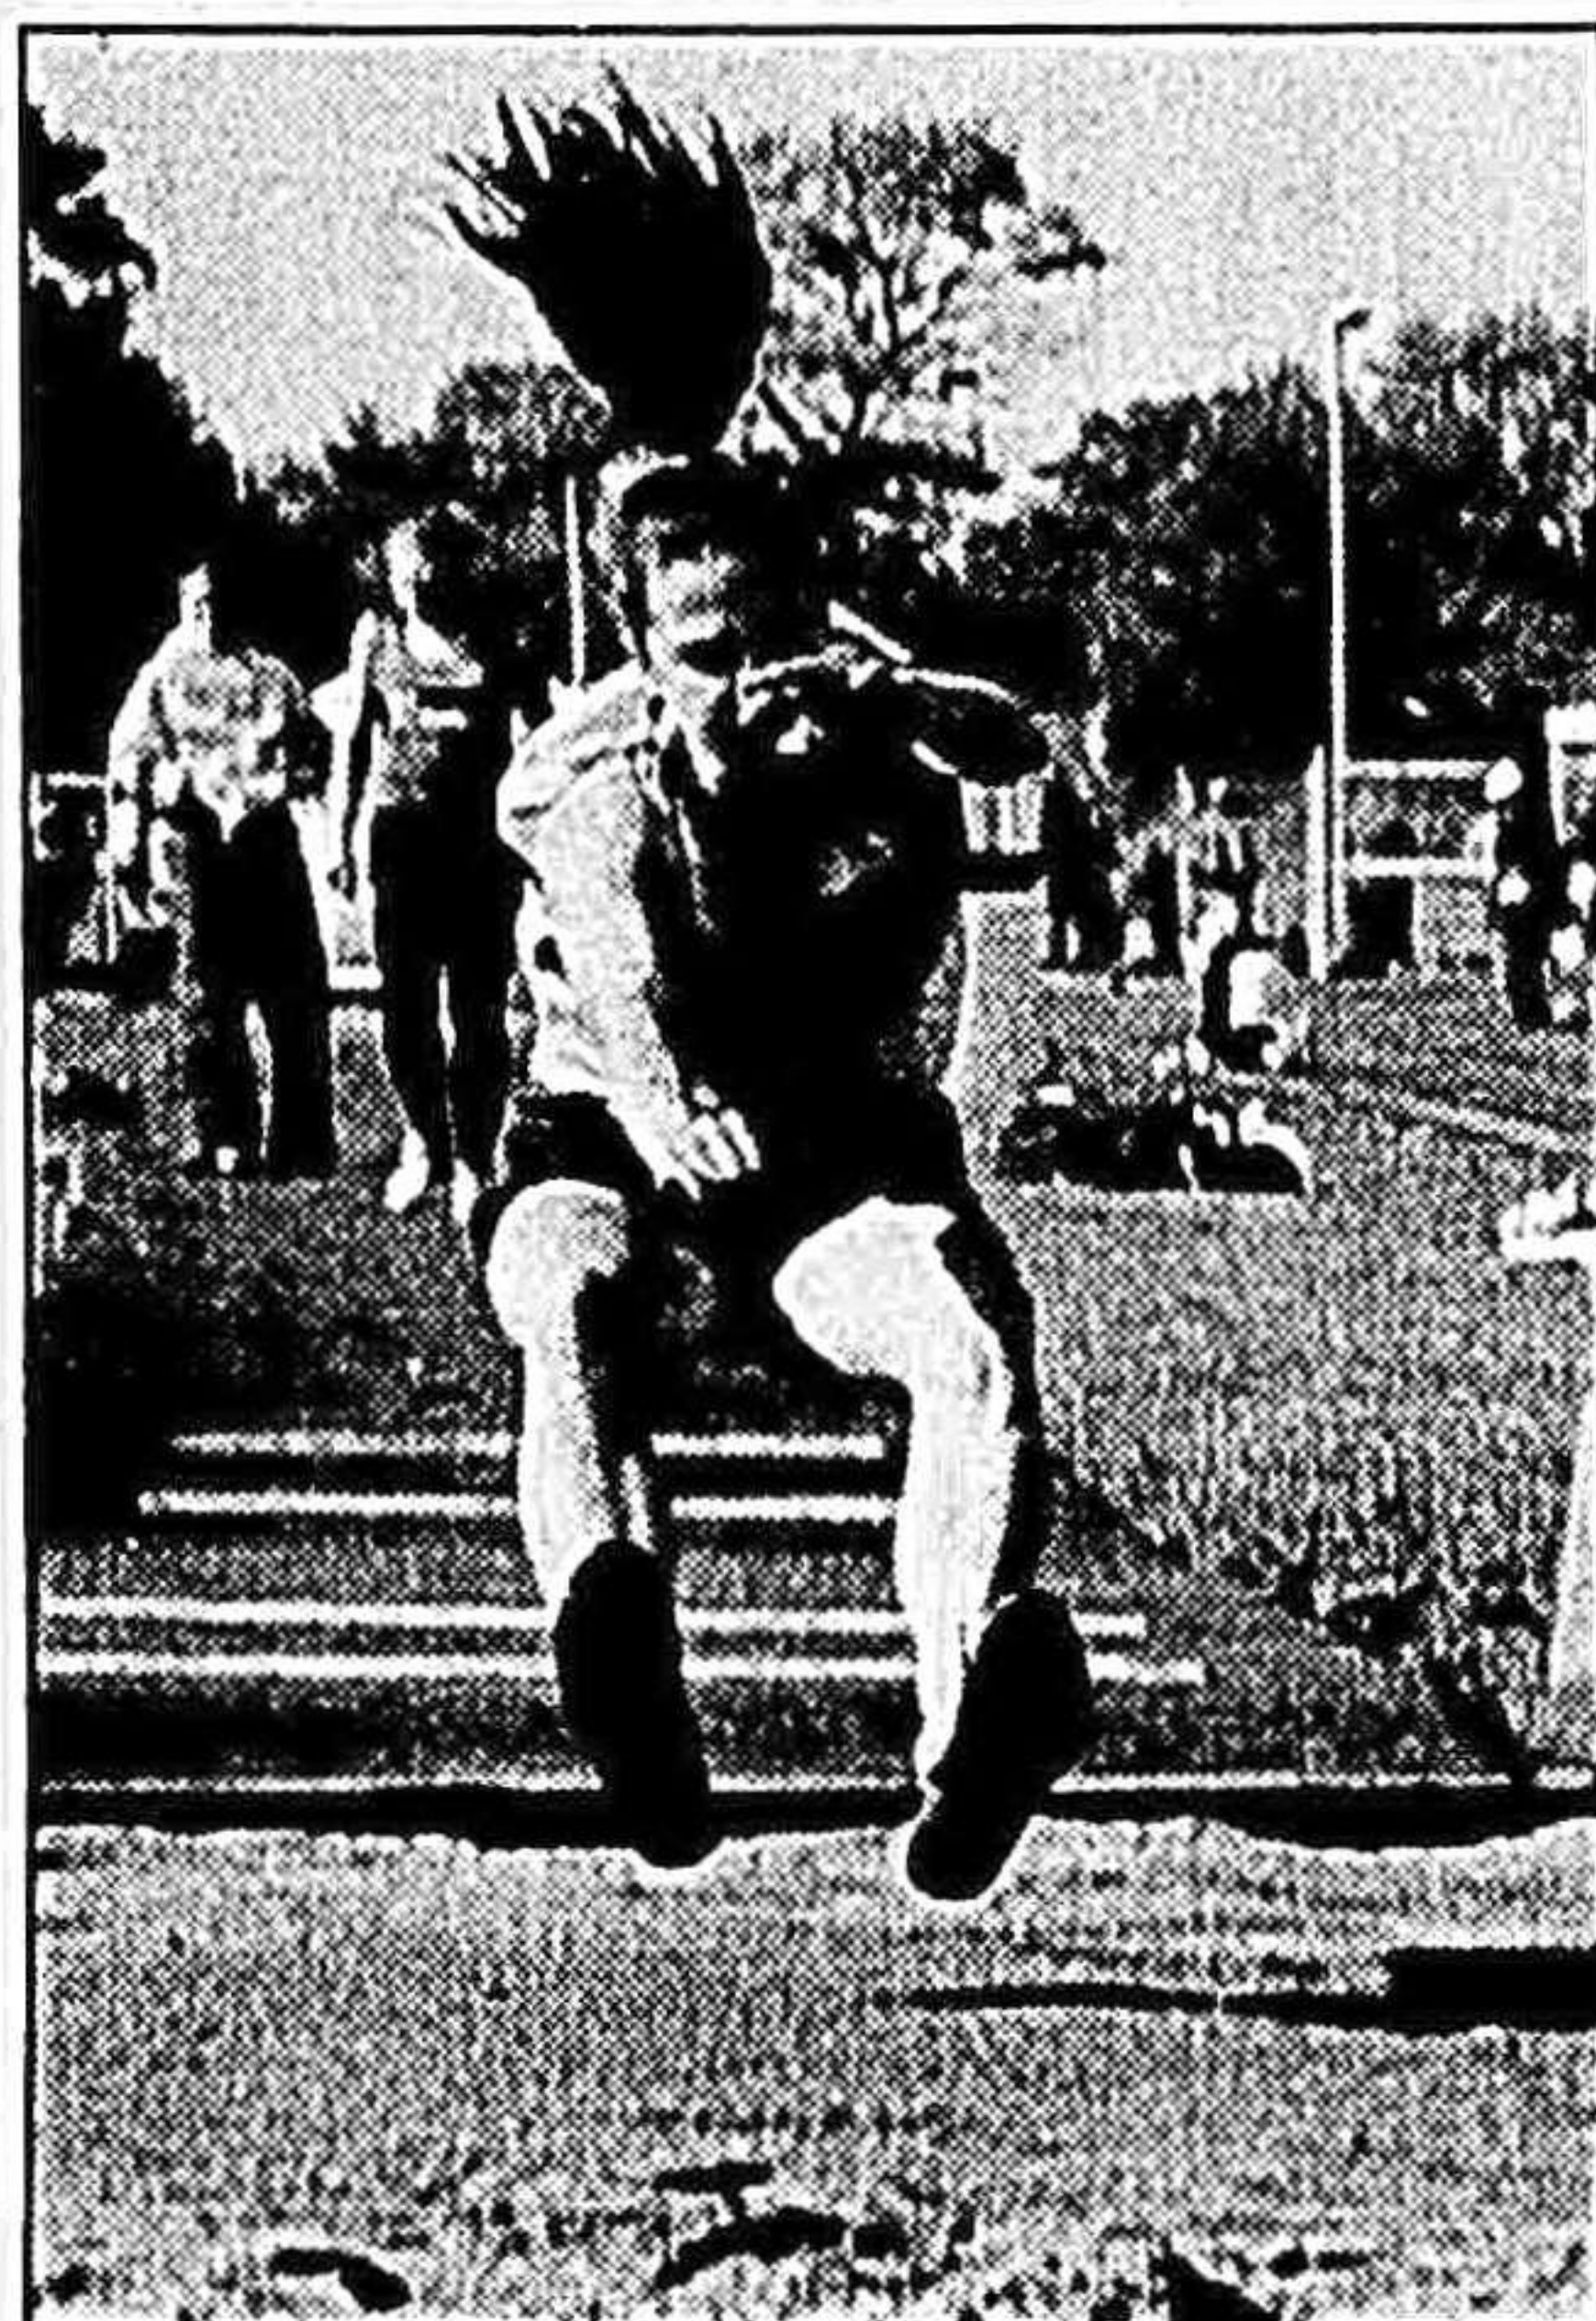

"A lot of freshman really stood out this year. Next year is going to be an awesome, awesome year," said Pitt.

The team finished ninth in the overall point totals.

Lake Villa 2001 Spring Tournament 'Champions'

The 11-year-old Lake Villa Lightning baseball team, hosted an eight-team tournament at the Lake Villa Baseball Park. Eight tough teams from Northern Illinois including Woodstock, Plainfield, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Lake Zurich and two teams from McHenry competed in a 3 day tournament. In the end, it was Lake Villa emerging as the champs.

The 'first ever night game' at the Lake Villa Baseball Park was the tournament opener for the 11-year-olds on May 4.

Lake Villa's Chief of Police Roger Visconti was honored by the team with throwing out the first pitch. His continued commitment in supporting Lake Villa Township Baseball League and the almost 800 kids earned him the honor. The first game brought the Lightning to face an experienced Lake Zurich squad. Lake Villa used timely hitting and solid pitching to come away with a 7-6 victory. Kyle Stroup took the mound and pitched scoreless baseball for the first four innings, striking out six batters.

Eric Vazquez pitched the remaining three innings, holding the Cougars to just four runs while fanning six. The bat attack of the Lightning was a team effort in the opener. Timely hits were provided by Jimmy Clancy, Eric Vazquez, Kyle Stroup, Randy Ratajczyk, Carl Schultz, Jomar Vazquez and Brandon Beckner. The Lightning then posted a 9-4 victory against the McHenry Travelers in game 2. Starting pitcher was Randy Ratajczyk went the first four innings. A rough start for the lightning saw them down by four runs after the first frame. However, the Lightning defense went to work and retired the McHenry Travelers in order for the next six innings. More impressive again was the way the Lightning came back and pounded the ball. The attack included hits by Eric Vazquez with a single and Randy Ratajczyk with a double, single and three RBI. The big blow came with a grand slam off the bat of Kyle Stroup. The defense was flawless with tremendous efforts from Kyle Frye, Clancy, Schultz, Coles, Brent Gruber, Andrews, Vazquez and Beckner. Stroup came in to close the game for the Lightning with six more K's in four innings of work.

The championship game was against Lake Villa's arch rival, the McHenry Hurricanes. Three different pitchers combined their efforts in a 7-4 Lightning win.

Once again, Stroup pitched the last four innings with an impressive nine strikeouts. Frye led the bats in the final game with a double and a single. Brent Gruber who also had a double and a single with Eric Vazquez and Randy Ratajczyk each adding a hit. Stroup added two more doubles. Coles primarily caught most of the three games, throwing out three attempted steals. In the final game, outfielders Frye, Clancy, Gruber, Andrews, Vazquez and Beckner made sensational catches. First and second-place finishers received both team and individual trophies. The Lightning would like to thank their sponsors; U-Line, Kaydan Awards, Wells Fargo Mortgage-Karen Frye and Robert Frank Real Estate.

The Lake Villa Lightning are members of USSA Baseball. They are managed by Rich Coles, Ken Ratajczyk and Jim Clancy. They are also proud of having the 'greatest parents supporting them.

Rains postpone Wilmot opener

Heavy rains on May 11 left standing water throughout the facility, forcing Wilmot Speedway management to postpone the 50th Season Opening event on May 12th. Despite a relatively clear sky the track preparation team was unable to dry the track sufficiently to allow for a safe racing environment.

With temperatures hovering in the 50s, Mother Nature wasn't providing much help in the drying process and after getting two pieces of heavy equipment stuck on the track in the drying attempt, the speedway was forced to throw in the towel.

"The entire back straightaway had between 1-2 inches of water standing on it," said Andrew Calin Promoter. "We tried everything we could to pack, move or force the water into or off the track. There simply was nowhere for it to go."

The scheduled appearances of the NASCAR show cars of Dale Earnhardt, Tony Stewart and Bill Elliot will be re-scheduled for later in the season. The next scheduled event at the historic speedway is Saturday night May 19, with the season debut of the Sprint cars, IMCA Modifieds and IMCA Hobby Stocks. Gates open at 5 p.m. with racing beginning at 7 p.m..

Advance tickets for the June 16 'Miller Lite King of Wisconsin' World of Outlaws Gumout show go on sale May 15 and interested parties should call the speedway offices at 395-0500 for information on ticket purchases.

Area's largest unprotected woodland to be preserved

By JOHN KOSKI
Managing Editor

A move by the Lake County Forest Preserve to purchase 467 acres in northern Lake County will preserve and protect 170 acres of century-old trees for future generations to appreciate and enjoy. The site represents the largest unprotected oak-hickory woodlands remaining in Lake County.

Creating the new forest preserve and naming it Ethel's Woods in honor of the District's founder, Ethel Untermyer of Riverwoods, was the top action approved by the Lake County Forest Preserves' Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee and the Finance and Administrative Committee at its May 10 meeting.

The ordinance to purchase the 467 acres for $13,192,750 and name it Ethel's Woods now will be sent to the Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners for consideration. The site, owned by Abbott Laboratories, is located south of Rte. 173 between Rte. 45 and Crawford Rd. in Antioch and Newport Townships.

If Board approval is received, Ethel's Woods will be the sixth acquisition made using funds

Building violations can now be reported on weekends

By JOHN KOSKI
Managing Editor

It's Saturday morning and you are trying to sleep in after a long work week. Suddenly, your slumber is broken by the sound of a circular saw and someone hammering nails.

You get out of bed and look out the window only to see that your next-door neighbor is putting up a new fence. Then you realize that it doesn't meet code — and that your neighbor doesn't have a permit.

Oh no, you think to yourself. By the time the building code office opens Monday morning the fence will be completed and who knows how long it will take to resolve the issue.

Fortunately, help is at hand. This summer, Lake County residents who have building and development concerns about their neighbors will be able to reach the county's Planning, Building and Development Department on weekends via an emergency number 360-6330. The phone number is available on weekends until the end of October.

The emergency number allows county residents to leave a recorded message regarding

Living in Literacy

Jodi Jill will be the featured speaker on May 31, 7 p.m. in Room A162 at the College of Lake County (Grayslake campus). The program is sponsored by the Lake County Literacy Program and is open to the public. Jill will share her life's story of how she, her four siblings and parents lived in a storage unit the size of a double car garage for 10 years.

During those years, Jill, her brothers and sisters were not allowed to go to school. Her salvation was the local public library where she found books on tapes and taught herself to read.

Today, Jill is an editor at Bentlight Media Publishing House and director of "Quit Whining and Read," National Literacy campaign. She travels around the country telling her story and encouraging others who are interested in literacy to pick up a book and read. Jill recently spoke in Houston, Tex., where Jet Thompson commented, "It was so refreshing to listen to a speaker who didn't have a personal agenda, but spoke instead from the heart."

The Lake County Literacy Program provides free basic skills instruction in reading, writing, mathematics or learning to speak English for adults throughout Lake County. For information about Jill or the Lake County Literacy Program contact Rhonda at the college at 543-2024.

VIOLATIONS

possible construction violations. The recordings are checked periodically by building inspectors who will respond to the calls. Building emergencies include such problems as poor drainage issues, illegal or dangerous building, illegal dumping and building things such as decks, fences or home additions without proper permits, among other issues.

The department's Building Code and Environmental Engineering Divisions established the number so that Lake County residents can reach the department while a potential violation is underway on weekends this summer.

According to Planning, Building and Development Director Phil Rovang, "The idea of the telephone number is to get a quick county response before a small problem becomes a big one. We want to give Lake County residents an opportunity to communicate their concerns on building and zoning issues while its still fresh on their minds."

The Lake County Department of Planning, Building and Development is responsible for helping county residents review and approve development plans, enforce building and environmental regulations, and provide proactive community outreach in unincorporated areas to protect and enhance the quality of life.

WOODLAND

from the successful, voter-approved November 2000 referendum. The site also will be the single largest Forest Preserve purchase since 533-acre Singing Hills Farm near Volo in 1997. The acquisition of Ethel's Woods will increase the total acres of Forest Preserves in Lake County to 23,237 acres.

The site's strategic location to neighboring 281-acre Raven Glen Farm and 75-acre Timber Lake Forest Preserves (purchased in August 2000) offers a direct linkage creating an 823-acre preserve. Large, contiguous land holdings provide a natural greenway corridor for better land management, wildlife protection and expanded outdoor recreation opportunities.

Scattered throughout the site's oak-hickory woodlands are small, isolated forest ponds that hold water in this spring and early fall. These ponds, along with two Advanced Identification (ADID) wetlands bordering the high-quality Old Mill Creek stream corridor, and several creeks that flow into the site's prominent 60-acre Rasmussen Lake, provide valuable wildlife habitat and food sources for a variety of birds, mammals and reptiles.

Rasmussen Lake was formed from the construction of a dam across Old Mill Creek in 1957. The outflow creates strong rapids along the stream corridor downstream of the dam. The stream winds through box elder, cottonwood, weeping willow and green ash trees and other flora. The combination of the Lake's serpentine shape and the site's massive woodlands create a picturesque landscape reminiscent of a north woods setting.

Last fall, the Forest Preserve Board passed a resolution to name a forest preserve in tribute to Ethel Untermyer, who led a successful referendum campaign in 1958 that formed the Lake County Forest Preserve District. Ethel took action to fulfill the request of her 3-year-old son, Frank, who wanted a place to play in the woods.

O'Hare mess could be aided with buyouts

In the giant chess game of public transportation, politicians are the players and the users are the pawns. The feeling of helplessness is no more evident than the frustration of getting in and out of O'Hare Airport. Unless it's motorists navigating congested east-west access to north-south highways.

The pity is that convenient access to O'Hare, a major attraction to Lake County business and residents, really doesn't exist anymore. Or at least it isn't as comfortable as it used to be. We have attempted to draw attention to the attractive option for the flying public to use Milwaukee's Mitchell Field, but for various reasons, that alternative is catching on slowly.

So it's O'Hare for as far as the future unfolds. That means unless the politicians end their endless game of tug-o-war, we'll be stuck in traffic and the delays brought on by an overcrowded airport. It doesn't have to be that way.

You know the O'Hare solution is reaching desperate proportions when two Iowa senators jump into the fray to exert pressure to force construction of some new runways. Good grief. Isn't there enough brain power in Illinois to solve a transportation problem that impacts just about every man, woman and child in the northern part of the state?

Mayor Daley is all for a new runway, but he can't or hasn't been able to hack his way through the hedgerow of Republican opposition in the form of an intractable Republican governor and suburban GOP opportunists pandering to a discontented citizenry in flight paths.

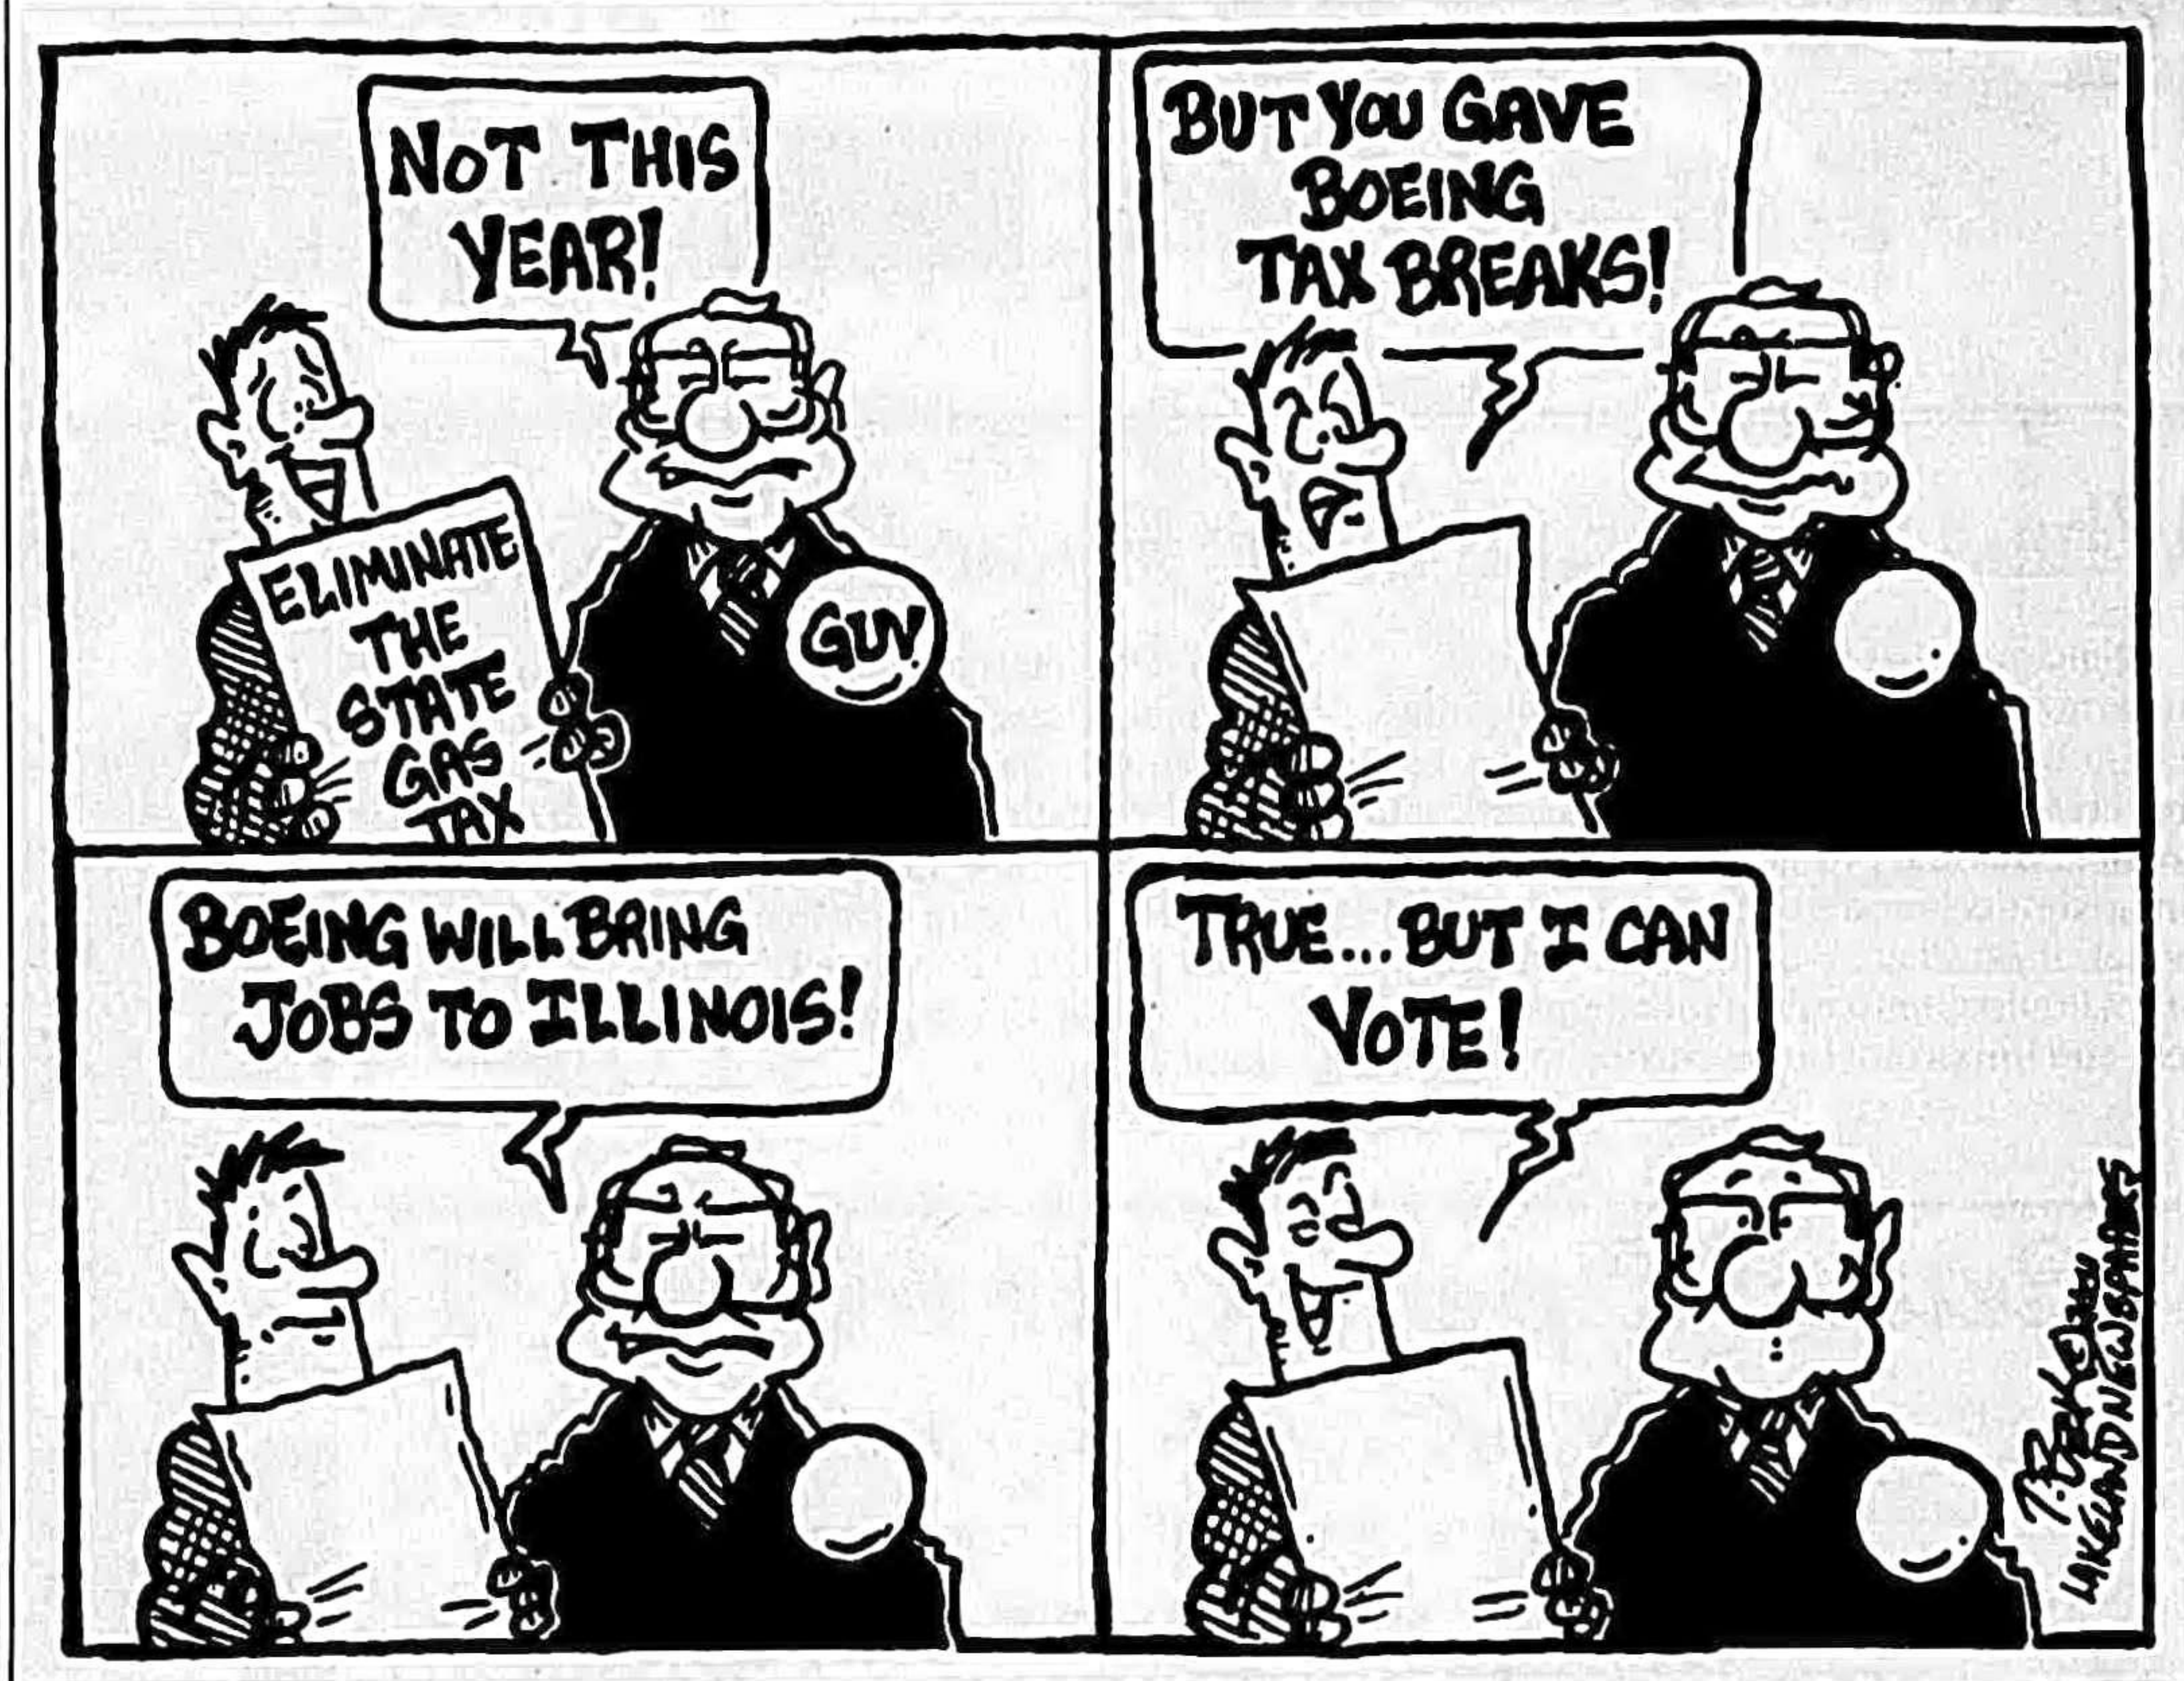

We have seen examples over the years of how landlocked public entities can overcome space constrictions. It's surprising that the plan hasn't been raised for the international airport. The plan to obtain new runway space involves invoking market forces to acquire the necessary property and build. If the City of Chicago couldn't pull off buying up runway land, the State of Illinois could cooperate by creating an authority to help acquire homes. Pay airport neighbors market or above market prices to relocate.

Private property buyout is happening right now with the Stormwater Management Agency to relocate homeowners in Williams Park, Wauconda, as a solution for chronic flooding. Condell Hospital over the years successfully purchased nearby homes so the Libertyville medical facility could expand. Both responses involve serving the greater good. Suburban schools buy neighboring homes all the time to provide space for expansion. The federal government has a history of buying out homeowners suffering from repeated flooding. Why is O'Hare so sacred?

The buyout procedure takes a lot of time, patience—and money. But it works. The end of achieving more runway space with a buyout program could be accomplished just as fast and probably for a like monetary pay out as the continued fight over building a third metropolitan airport at south suburban Peotone.

What makes the ongoing O'Hare battle so maddening is a new report from the Illinois Dept. of Transportation suggesting that both an expanded O'Hare and Peotone "International" will be needed in less than 20 years. This sounds like the politicians on both sides could have their cake and eat it if they would only stop posturing long enough to think sensibly.

Something to ponder, indeed, the next time you're stranded at O'Hare or creeping along one of our crowded highways. Question: What motivates people to buy homes in crowded jet flight ways?

VIEWPOINT

Boeing's lesson worth learning

It's beginning to come out what Boeing was up to all along. Big shots were looking for a change of scenery. The jousting between Chicago, Dallas-Ft. Worth and Denver was the resulting circus when the suits go shopping.

Even Bannockburn and Schaumburg got a look see. Sort of.

Basically, Boeing execs wanted to get out of town. Goodbye Seattle, the company home for 70 years.

The big guys who manage the company grew tired of being known as "just" jet builders. The new mantra of Boeing is "to establish a new image as a marketing-oriented, more-diverse firm." That couldn't be done, we're told, when the headquarters is "co-located with thousands of manufacturing people" in Seattle, as reported in Industrial Week magazine.

The magazine quoted Dennis J. Donovan, a corporate relocation expert, who said a new headquarters city is part of establishing a new image. Oh? We'll see.

Big industry moguls, compensated like NBA stars for being brainy, are notorious for making dumb decisions. Motorola's move to Harvard, made mainly to capitalize on cheaper nearby Wisconsin labor and get away from Chicago and high suburban taxes, doesn't look too smart today.

They often make moves on a whim. Like the time International Minerals Corp. abandoned a beautiful world headquarters building on Rte. 45 between Grayslake and Mundelein because the new CEO wanted to be "closer to O'Hare."

As a North Shore resident, his commute to Mundelein was "too

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

long."

The fact that whim and folly has a lot more to do with corporate location decisions than the public is led to believe, prompted new Gurnee Mayor Don Rudny to remark that while landing a headquarters resident is nice, "don't give away the store to do so." That's exactly what Boeing's new host city is doing. The Illinois-Chicago deal was $22 million in tax breaks. Or was it double that? Or $62 mil? Remember that when you're paying your real estate taxes.

At the same time, municipal officials are to be supported in court-ing corporate residents. If the corporate newcomers want to join us for what we are. Not what we can do for them. Or give away. It was shameful the way the W.W. Grainger company was treated like trailer trash when establishing a new headquarters in Lake County several years ago.

Time will tell if Boeing's move was a good decision or another corporate whim.

Troubling similarities

Peter Czyzewski expected things to be different in America. He still has vivid memories of how Communist bureaucrats confiscated a mountain home in his native Poland, property that had been in the family for 400 years.

Shaking his head in disbelief, Czyzewski sees similarities in the way government works in the U.S. as he and neighbors cope with an unpopular house building project in their midst. "Three subdivisions fought this project. Many officials were against it. Still we're getting it because of greed," he exclaimed while pointing to nearby foundations that tower over his property in unincorporated Libertyville.

Michael Werchek, a builder/developer and unsuccessful candidate for village trustee, acquired several acres of low land and had it annexed to build luxury homes. Neighbors fought the project on the basis that it will create flooding problems. Werchek hauled in thousands of yards of fill. He built a drain ditch and is installing storm sewers. Neighbors contend the system won't work. Czyzewski says there is an underground water source, probably a spring.

Like mountain villas hanging on a cliff, the Werchek homes will dwarf nearby residences. Storm drainage will pose a threat to septic fields. Neighbors don't expect the expensive homes to be a pretty sight. Peter has planted some evergreens to screen off the objectionable development. He thought things would be different in America.

Busy Brownies

Members of Brownie Troop 1325 and their moms were working overtime last Saturday. They filled 19 Mother's Day baskets for women staying at A Safe Place, the shelter for battered women, and then they planted petunias in the planter fronting the Lakeland Newspaper building. Quite a workout for the young ladies and a great lesson in public service. Congratulations.

One man's family

Granddaughters Erika and Ali were convinced dreams come true when a golden retriever puppy arrived at their home. They stared in disbelief as their new pet waited to be scooped into their arms. Yes, dreams do come true for youngsters. Especially when mom and dad are listening.

A crazy plan to end tollways—yet build them

This column has tried its best to allow Illinois motorists and the public to "see through" the problem-ridden Illinois State Toll Highway Authority, but there is every reason to keep pounding against the empire-builder.

I'm sure that you had read and heard the headlines from Gov. George Ryan which beamed "Tollways to Die Under Ryan Plan." If it raised your hopes up that tollways would become freeways, you were among a small minority.

There was so much wrong with

SEEING IT THROUGH

the plan that it's hard to know where to begin. It is as if the plan was raised to be doomed, so that someone could say, well, if you who oppose the tollway system won't accept this, then accept that toll-ways will never disappear. What else is new?

The most scandalous part of the plan was the scheme to end the tollways be dramatically raising tolls for the next 20 years. Come on, give us a break.

The plan gets crazier. Who will bear the greatest burden of the toll increases? You will. The suburban motorists who have long since paid off the bonds to build the Tri-State and Northwest tollways would pay more for their commuter daily rides on the tollways.

Gov. Ryan said that the outer fringes of the tollway system would be the first to remove toll booths, while the core areas of the system, not only paying high tolls, would be the last to remove the toll booths. Who is he kidding?

The reason that they want to keep the tolls rolling in from suburban motorists is because that is where the volume of revenue is. When you take in almost a million dollars of toll revenue a day, and that is before any of these planned toll increases, not much of it is

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Haley's back where he started

Mike Haley, involved in state government for more than two decades, is delighted to be back where he started—village politics.

Haley, a long-time aide in the Illinois Secretary of State's office, was one of the first appointments of newly elected Antioch Mayor Taso Maravelas. Haley was named administrative assistant to the village administrator.

A life-long resident of Antioch and a former businessman, Haley has prospects of taking full charge of village business when Village Administrator Tim Wells retires in August. Haley retired from state employment last year. He also is a former mayor of Antioch.

Maravelas also changed law firms, appointing Daniels, Long and Pinsel, a Waukegan firm, as village counsel. Antioch's new village attorneys include Robert Long, who formerly practiced law in Antioch. Long has extensive experience in municipal law. Atty. Kenneth Clark of Antioch represented the village for many years.

Newcomers rebuffed

First the voters turned away from him and then former Ela Township Supervisor Bob Grever turned away from his office of two decades, making the transition for newly elected Supervisor Kim Tinerella troublesome. She took the rebuff in stride, calling the change of administration "a couple of weeks of overlapping." Tinerella and her new team self out of a GOP leadership role, at least for the time being. After thinking about running himself, Vukovich supported Drew in the spring election. Now he's helping shape a new administration.

Davis: Considering buy-out.

Maravelas: Counting on experience to get a fast start.

Ready to go

Mary Davis, superintendent of the embattled Round Lake Unit School District, has hired an attorney to inquire about a buy-out of her contract. Davis has two years to go on a five-year agreement. Some board of education members have taken the position that the district can't afford a buy-out, which would be in the neighborhood of $300,000. Proponents of district reorganization have been calling for Davis to resign.

Still simmering

Even with controversial "new education" guru William Spady sent packing, parents in elementary school Dist. 46 still are buzzing about reprisals involving the inquiry into Outcome Based Education. Principal Charles Davis, popular with students and parents, reportedly was reassigned because of his support for traditional teaching methods. Spady opponents also decried charges leveled at them as "radical right-wingers," "ultra-conservatives" and "religious nuts." The district includes Grayslake and parts of Round Lake Beach and Lake Villa. An air of uncertainty hangs over the resignation of board President John Karol.

utilized Foglia YMCA for induction where a larger crowd could be accommodated.

Rocky road(s)

Newly elected Shields Township Road Comm. Dan Rogers says his campaign charges of financial mismanagement in the department are being substantiated by his findings in records left by outgoing Comm. William Cervak. "I'm taking over a bankrupt highway department," Rogers asserted. Rogers is responsible for about 12 miles of roadway in the unincorporated area around North Chicago, Lake Bluff and Lake Forest.

Out of leadership

Former Republican Ald. Ray Vukovich has a key administrative role in the cabinet of Waukegan Mayor Dan Drew, a Democrat. That means Vukovich has taken him-

'Darn Cubs' just gotta have heart

A favorite song from the classic musical comedy "Damn Yankees" goes like this:

"You gotta have heart, all you really need is heart. When the odds are saying you'll never win, that's when the grin should start —"

Last year, none of the other 29 major league baseball teams was worse than our beloved but bedraggled Chicago Cubs. This year, in the first six weeks of the season, none was better. The Cubs led the National League Central Division with a 21-13 record.

The Cubs haven't won a world championship in almost a century, since 1908, but their millions of fans still live and die with them every day (mostly die).

I should know because I have been one of them since the age of 7, when my dear old dad would drive me from our home in Kenosha to Wrigley Field in Chicago whenever he could.

Naturally, my boyhood ambition was to

THE PFARR CORNER

become a pitcher for the Cubs, but that dream ended in a sandlot game as a teenager when I was edged out, 23 to 21.

Anyway, as this was being written, Sunday, May 13, the Cubs were battling for first place with those monsters of the Midwest, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cub fans are trying not to get too excited because their team is notorious, after a good start, for swooning in June, dying in July or going bust in August.

But this year might be different. Manager

Don Baylor's team has some effective new players and a new attitude. One baseball writer wrote, "Normally, it would be easy to dismiss the Cubs, but if there's a year for a team to come from nowhere, this is it. Who knew the Cubs bullpen would be this good? No one."

Yes, this could be the most interesting Cubs season since 1989 when the team won the National League East title after a long stretch battle with the Cardinals, Mets and Expos. But they lost to the Giants in the National League Championship series.

One of the stars that year was Andre Dawson and he was the subject of a song titled "Andre's Army," by Spike O'Dell and the Right Fielders:

"There he goes, just a-walkin' to the plate, swingin' do wa ditty, ditty dum, ditty do—when Andre's up you know it's never too late—swingin' do wa ditty, ditty dum, ditty do—Awe-some Dawson's gonna do it, holy cow; swingin' do wa ditty, ditty dum, ditty do—"

No other team in the history of sports has been saluted so often by songwriters. Cubbie charm has been transposed into music by the Beach Boys ("Here Come the Cubs" and "Cubby Safari"), Alan Barcus ("You're My Cubs") and Steve Goodman ("Go Cubs Go"): "Hey, Chicago, what do you say? the Cubs are gonna win today."

Back in the 1980s, players Jody Davis, Leon Durham, Keith Moreland, Gary Woods and Rick Sutcliffe formed a quintet singing "Men in Blue":

"Here's to you, Men in Blue, you're the cream of the crop. You're a team built on dreams, you'll go right to the top!"

And this from the "Chicago Cubs Song," by John Frigo:

"Hey, hey, holy mackerel, no doubt about it—the Cubs are on their way —"
Wow, maybe. Just maybe.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Honor our dead

Comrades, men, women and our youth. We cannot let Memorial Day become a thing of the past. It's been observed since at least May, 1868, but in later years some of us seem to forget. I doubt if there is one family that can't boast of a veteran in their ranks. So let's all do a little extra to honor our dead this Memorial Day. Whether it's marching to the local cemetery memorial or replacing our tattered flag and flying it proudly, and explaining to our youth why all this is so very important.

Or we could urge our veterans to join their local VFW or the American Legion to help save the local veterans hospital so we can take care of the veterans who were lucky to make it home. If we do this, the soldiers will thank us from their deep dark graves.

Air gets 'F' grade

May 1 marked the beginning of ozone season in the Chicago area. That special time of year when emissions of nitrogen oxides and volatile organic compounds mix in the presence of sunlight to form ozone-smog. The American Lung Association rates Lake County air in particular an "F"—last summer there were 16 days when the air was unhealthy for sensitive people to breathe, and two days when the air was unhealthy for everyone.

The source of much of this pollution is electrical power plants. There are 24 coal-fired plants in Illinois "grandfathered" from current environmental regulations. They spew thousands of tons of harmful pollutants into the air, despite the fact that our state legislators in Springfield have long promised to clean them up.

Incredibly, using fear of California-style blackouts as cover, Springfield is busily planning for as many as eight new coal-fired plants, supported by a package of financial incentives costing hundreds of millions of our tax dollars. Additionally, there are now 60 "peaker" plants in the permitting process, plants designed to run in the summer, when our air quality is already poor. The peakers alone will produce as much power used by ComEd on the hottest day in 1999. All of these plants can, and will, sell the power out of state, leaving us with the pollution.

Don't be fooled

Don't be fooled by the former president (mayor) of Long Grove stating her village has joined with Mundelein to oppose the construction of Rte. 53. Mundelein never said this.

The former president in her last days in office said that in addition to this action, the village board endorsed several road building projects. Again, don't be fooled. Some of these projects already are scheduled to be built. This endorsement may be part of a public relation ploy to endorse road building programs already in the works so that the village board might look good.

What Long Grove ignored is that in the State of Illinois alternative plan to Rte. 53, the widening of Rte. 83 in Long Grove is an absolute must. The village leaders also ignored supporting the widening of Rte. 22 to four lanes through their community. Did they forget about these two overcrowded highways in their village? And why does Long Grove close roads when other municipalities keep busier roads open?

There is a positive at long last from Long Grove. They finally are endorsing road building—but not in their community. Long Grove and a few others still are at the root of the decades long mammoth traffic gridlock.

generated from the Sterling-Dixon area on the western border of the East-West tollway.

Just the fact that it will take 20 years for Gov. Ryan's "tollway meltdown" is bizarre enough. Since we could not believe the promises from two chairpersons of the tollway authority who said that tollways would become freeways by 1980, or 1984 at the latest, how are we to swallow a planned closure of the tollway system 20 years down the road. Sounds like the old "Brooklyn Bridge Sale" to me, and we're not buying it.

I said that the "20-year Shut-down Plan" gets loonier and here's the real kicker. While they are telling us that they want to free the tollways, much of the new revenue from raised tolls will be used to construct a new tollway, the extension of Rts. 355 in Will County. That's really what this plan is all about. It's a governmental scam job trying to convince you that someday the tollways will become freeways, but, in the meantime, we pay more and higher tolls to build more toll highways. Are we suckers, or what?

We'll have more to say about Gov. Ryan's tollway folly next week.

Sports fish consumption advisory announced

The Illinois Department of Public Health announced its 2001 consumption advisories for sports fish caught in Illinois lakes and rivers.

The advisories provide eating advice in five categories - unlimited consumption, one meal a week, no more than one meal per month, no more than six meals a year and do not eat.

"These fish can be eaten safely if anglers and their families follow the meal recommendations in the advisories and the cooking and cleaning advice," said Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state public health director. "Fish are an ideal source of high-quality protein, vitamins and minerals and are low in cholesterol and saturated fats. They can be an important part of a healthy diet."

The consumption advisories for bluegill and crappie in Lake Bracken were changed from a recommended limit of one meal a week to unlimited consumption due to two years of test results with no contaminants detected. Previously, the fish were found to have PCB contamination.

Advice for channel catfish caught at Powerton Lake calls for one meal a week for those less than 19 inches in length and once a month for those 19 inches and longer due to PCB contamination. Smallmouth bass, white bass and carp from the lake were cleared for unlimited consumption. This is the first time the state's fish monitoring system has tested fish from this lake.

Crappie from Crab Orchard Lake, carp from Highland-Silver Lake and largemouth bass from the Mississippi River from the Wisconsin border to Lock and Dam 26 were tested for the first time and showed no contaminants. Those fish were recommended for unlimited consumption.

The advisory for Ohio River sauger, which have been detected with PCBs, was changed from one meal a week for all sizes of the fish to one meal a month.

The advisory also adds freshwater drum from the Wabash River for the first time and recommends that all sizes of the fish, which have shown PCB contamination in the past, can be safely eaten once a week. All sizes of carp caught in the Wabash River may be eaten once a week compared with last year's recommendation to eat carp less than 20 inches in length once a week and eating carp longer than 20 inches only once a month.

Anglers can limit their exposure to PCBs and chlordane that may be found in fish by preparing and cooking fish in ways that reduce the amount of contaminants and by varying the type and source of sport fish consumed -- opting for the younger, smaller fish, and consuming leaner species such as bass, walleye and panfish over fatter species such as carp and catfish.

There are several ways to reduce contaminants in edible portions of fish:

- Before cooking, remove the skin from the fillet and cut away any fatty tissue from the belly and dorsal areas.

- Broil, bake or grill in a way that allows fat to drip away.

- Discard fat drippings or broth from broiled or poached fish.

While there is no known immediate health threat from eating contaminated fish from any Illinois body of water, there are concerns about the effects of long-term, low-level exposure to the pesticides and chemicals found in the fish flesh listed in the advisories.

For two of the chemicals that have caused advisories to be issued in Illinois - PCBs and chlordane - there is evidence that high doses can cause adverse health conditions in animals and humans, including cancer, liver damage, and reproductive and developmental damage. Mercury, the other contaminant of concern in Illinois fish, can cause reproductive damage and have adverse effects on the central nervous system, including developmental delays.

The advisories for these chemicals are based primarily on protecting women of childbearing age, fetuses and children younger than 6 years of age. They may be overprotective for women beyond childbearing age and adult men.

The Illinois Fish Contaminant Monitoring Program screens fish samples from about 50 bodies of water each year for contamination from 13 banned pesticides and industrial chemicals. The program is a joint effort of the departments of Agriculture, Natural Resources, Nuclear Safety and Public Health, and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA).

The fish are collected by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) and tested by IEPA. The Department of Public Health bases its consumption advisories on the IEPA test results. This year's advisories are included in Illinois 2001 Fishing Information, which is available from IDNR or from businesses that sell state fishing licenses.

The Department of Public Health has pamphlets regarding fish consumption advice, including Illinois Fish and Your Health and An Expectant Mother's Guide to Eating Illinois Fish. —By The Illinois Department of Public Health

Don't forget to feed your bones

Every 20 seconds osteoporosis causes a fracture

Did you know that more than "sticks and stones can break your bones?" Statistics show that every 20 seconds, osteoporosis is causing a fracture. Fractures received as an adult not only impact a person's life, but also serve as an early warning sign of osteoporosis.

Although there are many treatments for osteoporosis, prevention is the only cure. Toby Stern, R.D., L.D., a registered Dietitian with the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center and a spokesperson with the Illinois Dietetic Association, suggests that many people can prevent osteoporosis by following four simple steps:

1. Feed your bones by eating a balanced diet rich in calcium and vitamin D.
2. Perform weight-bearing activities.

Illinois Medicaid rates for nursing homes are among the lowest in the nation

The average Medicaid rate paid to Illinois nursing homes ranks 48th in the nation, with only two states having a lower rate. According to August 2000 figures, the average daily Medicaid rate for nursing homes in Illinois is $88.98. Other Midwestern states have much higher average Medicaid rates, such as Indiana at $106.28 and Minnesota at $116.79.

Since 1994, Medicaid rates paid to Illinois nursing homes have increased by 29%. But, operational costs have increased 51% during the same time period.

With this disparity in Medicaid rates vs. costs, many Illinois facilities are facing challenges in sustaining their high levels of quality care provided to our state's elderly. Already, over 50 Illinois nursing homes have declared bankruptcy because Medicaid reimbursement has not kept up with costs.

Nursing home residents require more advance nursing care than ever before. Those elderly who are healthy and independent are discovering more health care options available to them, including home health and assisted living. Nowadays, persons entering nursing homes are more clinically complex, with a multitude of specialized care requirements. Their needs for more medical attention, increased nursing care and advanced treatments have caused care costs to increase dramatically. Because of the shortage of nurse assistants, salaries and wages have been driving up the cost of care faster than normal inflation.

With two-thirds of our state's nursing home residents dependent on Medicaid, it is crucial that the State provides adequate funding to meet their needs.

Currently, there are two pieces of legislation addressing the disparity between Medicaid funding vs. costs for Illinois nursing homes. Senate Bill 608 requires the State to calculate Medicaid rates based on current costs and wages, using the 1999 cost reports, and not those from 1992.

House Bill 3538 also requires using current costs and wages and, in addition, requires that the Medicaid rate be based upon current resident assessments, and not those completed in 1993.

"Senate Bill 608 and House Bill 3538 restore the Illinois safety net for some of our most frail and vulnerable citizens," states Terrence Sullivan, executive director of the Illinois Council on Long Term Care.

The coalition that supports these two pieces of legislation is made up of the state's four largest professional nursing home associations — the Illinois Council on Long Term Care, Illinois Health Care Association, Life Services Network of Illinois and the County Nursing Home Association — as well as the state's largest nursing home employee union - the Service Employees International Union, Local #4. Together they represent more than 54,000 professionals and caregivers serving 73,000 nursing home residents. The Catholic Conference, Community Bankers Association and Metro Counties Association also support these pieces of legislation.

Weight-bearing activities are activities that work your bones and muscles against gravity.

3. Participate in healthy lifestyle habits, such as refraining from smoking, and avoiding excessive use of alcohol or caffeine.

4. Have a bone density test and take preventive medications, when appropriate.

Calcium is a mineral that is essential for building and maintaining strong bones. It also helps muscles contract, the heart beat, nerves to function and blood to clot. People who are 19-50 years old need 1,000 mg of calcium/day. People who are 51 years and older need 1,200 mg of calcium/day. The best sources are from dairy products such as yogurt, lowfat milk and cheese. Vitamin D plays an important role in controlling blood calcium levels and the strengthening of your bones. Stern stated that the two main sources of vitamin D are from food (fortified milk) and the sun. In the summer, 10-15 minutes of sun on your hands and face, three times a week, should give you enough vitamin D to last you through the winter. Adequate calcium and vitamin D are more important while bones are forming, but they remain very important throughout life.

Weight bearing physical activity is recommended for building stronger bones. These types of exercises are those in which your feet and legs are bearing your weight. Weight-bearing activities are walking, jogging, dancing and tennis.

Research has found that cigarette smoking, excessive use of alcohol and coffee have a negative effect on calcium absorption and bone health. Drinking two or more cups of coffee a day is linked with decreased bone density. Drinking high amounts of coffee (10-20 cups a day) is linked to actual fractures.

The only way to diagnose osteoporosis is through a Bone Mineral Density test. Osteoporosis is known to be a "silent killer." The thinning of your bones can progress silently until one of your bones breaks. A Bone Density test measures the density of your bones (your bone mass). This test will help determine whether you need medication to help maintain your bone mass, as prevention of a fracture.

Don't let any sticks, stones, or risk factors break your bones. Follow the four steps to preventing osteoporosis. Stern maintains that it's never too early and it's never too late. You can prevent osteoporosis.

"No one fought my cancer harder than CTCA"

(Cancer Treatment Centers of America)

"This hospital healed my body. I didn't expect to be healed spiritually as well."

"I would have been a patient at any hospital. I know I would have been a patient. I know I would have been a patient."

You have cancer. Or you love someone who does. Why consider Cancer Treatment Centers of America? Why leave the care of referred doctors and hospitals? Why travel possibly hundreds of miles for your cancer treatment? Why try new and unfamiliar therapies?

The answer, for thousands of patients, is the reason they to come to CTCA. Twenty-five years ago, we determined the state of cancer care was unacceptable. So we embarked on a mission to treat people with cancer, in ways that would make a real difference in their lives and those of their families. Today, our widely acclaimed care, which combines the latest medical technology with nutritional, spiritual, physical and psychological intervention, has served as a model for cancer care nationwide. It is total care for mind, body and spirit.

Just one of our core passions is nutrition. Faced with the fact that more than one-third* of cancer patients die of malnutrition, we realize how crucial nutrition is in an overall treatment plan. We begin with an initial assessment of your body's nutritional needs. A registered dietitian creates a well-balanced plan to boost or sustain your immune system, and help reduce the side effects of your treatment. As with every aspect of treatment, you'll become a partner in your nutritional progress.

If you or a loved one are currently fighting cancer, call oncology information specialist Doug White at 1-800-577-1255 to find out how CTCA can help you in your battle.

Learning shouldn't end with summer!

Dear Dr. Singer,

My child has learning problems and I'd like to keep him working somehow over the summer. We do not have him enrolled in any summer school or other educational program. Can you recommend some things we can do, even at home, to keep his mind on top of things for next year? M.M.

Dear M.M.,

I have some suggestions, but realize that your child will probably not want to spend a minute of the summer doing them. In my mind, this really shouldn't be that much of a concern, because if these things are part of your rules, they need to be respected like any other rules. I say this only because I want you to be prepared for the "guff," you may get!

I heard an interesting piece of information from one of my clients that I think is important for this type of thing. She told me that she heard another professional say that children lose about a month of school learning over the summer and that it takes an average of 2 months for them to get back up to speed in the fall. I cannot document the accuracy of this quote, but it does make sense to me. I am an advocate of summer learning. Here are some suggestions that have worked well for my clients:

1. If you feel that your child's problem is something more than you can handle by yourself, or a problem that causes a lot of frustration for the child, have the child tested first to be sure that you are not mounting up more frustration. Once that is done and you have knowledge of what is o.k. to use over the summer, you can go ahead with the other suggestions. I do this testing and if you would like more information on this testing, you can call me.

2. Summer is a terrific time to accelerate the skills that underlie learning. The Pace Program that I run does this very well. It helps kids to do everything related to thinking and school significantly better. It helps kids to be able to maintain more sensory information in a more efficient way, thus allowing the child to handle anything new that comes along without getting overwhelmed. Unlike tutoring, which usually handles one or two academic areas, Pace helps to significantly increase the child's entire learning system. Thus, it improves the child's ability to do what is needed for any and all information that comes his or her way. Kids who get overwhelmed usually end up avoiding school work which becomes a huge chore for parents to deal with. I help kids to knock out that overwhelmed feeling and become more independent with any work they do. Basically, I help to build a better brain! I need to mention though, last year a lot of people waited until school was out and then began to inundate me with calls requesting the program for over the summer. If you are thinking about doing this program over the summer, it is best to call and begin to reserve your space now. I take 3 new kids every month. Unlike many programs, I do all the training myself and your child doesn't see anyone else. Obviously, that creates some time constraints. During the summer I book up in the blink of an eye. Best to reserve early if it is something you are interested in. If you do find your child to have problems in either the emotional, behavioral or learning area, give me a call and I can help you get those areas taken care of in a quick way.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

3. If you have a computer, go out and get some structured (last year and next year grade) software packages in areas like Math, Reading, Spelling, Science, Writing, etc. If you go to a place like Best Buy, you can usually find a lot of those kinds of programs. Set up a structured schedule during the summer. For example, you may require 1-2 hours per day on a different program each day. You might have weekly requirements set up. You might make it goal oriented. For example, if your child does all of the weekly requirements adequately, you might reward him on Friday with a Blockbuster Gift Certificate for Friday night. Incidentally, the reward is not a bribe, it is a goal met for hard work and effort. If you have a problem with that type of thinking, you really need to reevaluate your thoughts about this. Motivation works for all of us. It's also a big part of the society you are training your child to live in. If you do not have a computer, there are books available like this as well. Check at a place like Barnes and Noble or Border's Book stores.

4. If your child reads at an adequate level, you might put together a grade-appropriate book list for him or her to choose from. Have the child choose a book for each 2 weeks of summer and require that 1 or 2 hours a day be spent reading. You might have the child do some sort of a small report, either written or oral for you.

5. Be sure that if you use the above suggestions, you don't go over 3 hours a day, and try to split those hours up. For example, Have the child read 1 hour in the morning and then have the child go outside to play or do something non-academic. Later on, have the child do an hour on the computer or with one of the subject books and then a break and then another hour. Teaching a child about breaks, getting back to work and not burning out is just as important as teaching the child about working all year around.

These suggestions are actually good for kids who are doing well in school and for kids who aren't. It's good to keep those little brains frosty and alert over the summer so that when school begins, kids are ready to launch right back into it and they may pick more up from the beginning. Kids may think this mean or "overkill," but you are actually making their lives easier by keeping them on track during the summer. They will have a far easier time in the fall after this is done.

CLC's Mitchell shows he has the 'right stuff'

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

CLC baseball has seen its fair share of talent over the past 25 years. This season was no exception. Lancer Pitcher Matt Mitchell added to that legacy.

After taking a year off from college baseball, Mitchell came to Grayslake looking to get noticed and seek an opportunity. He now looks like someone destined for stardom after his first year with the Lancers.

"He consistently throws around 90 mph. and has a 4:1 strikeouts to walks ratio," coach Gene Hanson said. "He's also averaging around 1.5 strikeouts per inning."

Mitchell finished the 2001 season with a record of 8-2, giving up only 39 hits in 71 innings. He struck out an astonishing 95 batters and walked only 30.

With those kinds of stats it's no wonder scouts were making their way to Lancer games all year. Everyone wanted to get a look at this possible future star. Hanson couldn't be happier.

"What an asset he's been to us," Hanson said. "Matt is a nice young man who is a tremendous team player."

After graduating from Warren High School in 1998, Mitchell went to pitch at Triton College in River Grove. A bout with Mono would cut the experience short however, and he decided to take a year off.

"Taking a year off gave me a chance to sit back and just watch," Mitchell said. "It ended up helping me in the long run because it made me a better pitcher."

Apparently it did because Mitchell threw around 90 mph. this season. He was even clocked at 94 during CLC's annual spring trip to Florida.

"Anyone who throws around 90 mph. will most definitely be looked at by the scouts," Hanson said.

Like so many others, Mitchell was attracted to CLC by the success of Hanson's baseball program, which has won 15 Skyway Conference titles (including this season) and two state championships. It's turned out to be a match made in heaven.

"I give a lot of credit to Coach Hanson and Coach Jewel (Lancer assistant Glen Jewell) for helping me become a better pitcher," Mitchell said. "They're both very knowledgeable and have a great program."

With his first season finished, the time is soon approaching for Mitchell to make a decision about his future. If he doesn't get drafted, another year at CLC is a possibility. Pitching at San Diego State is also an option.

"I'm going to sit down with him and we're going to weigh all of his options," Hanson said. "We'll find the best possible scenario for him."

Baseball out but not down

College of Lake County ran into two strong pitchers and its offense could not measure up in two games at the state junior college baseball finals.

CLC lost to Moraine Valley 8-4 and to Illinois Valley 9-0 at Blackhawk College in Moline.

"We just did not hit the ball. The offense was shut down. We had 11 hits in 18 innings," said CLC Coach Gene Hanson.

Adam Miller lost the first game, Matt

Mitchell the second game as CLC hurlers.

Dave Paddock, from Grant, and Miller, had six of the team's 11 hits.

"Illinois Valley is a strong team, but Moraine Valley came on hot the last couple of weeks. IV had to beat Moraine twice in the final round," Hanson said.

The Lancers had a memorable 42-13 season.

"We won the conference for the second straight year and got to the finals. We are a young team, with 12 kids coming back. They all have indicated they will be back," Hanson said. CLC hit .337 on the year.

Going into the state tournament, Brett McCullom was hitting .452; Chris Draska .374; Miller .373; Paddock .357; Jason Schuler .333 and Brett Hill, in limited time, .390.

Mitchell led the pitching staff with an 8-2 mark. He had a 1.68 ERA and 89 strikeouts.

Miller was 7-3, Danny Leicht of Zion 6-1, Chris Ramig 7-3 and Brad Spletter 4-0.

Proposed Revision to the Prevention of Significant Deterioration Permit to PQ Corporation in Gurnee

PQ Corporation has applied to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (Illinois EPA) to revise the Prevention of Significant Deterioration permit previously issued by the Illinois EPA for the company's Sodium Silicate Manufacturing process. The company has requested to modify limits in the permit based on stack test data. Modifying the limits will not modify the established Best Available Control Technology for this process. The facility is located at 1915 Delany Road in Gurnee. The Illinois EPA is accepting comments prior to making a final decision on the revision.

Persons wanting more information may obtain copies of the draft permit, and project summary at www.epa.gov/region5/air/permits/ilonline.htm (please look under All Permit Records, PSD, Revision). These documents and the application can also be obtained from the Illinois EPA's offices at 9511 West Harrison in Des Plaines, 847/294-4000 and 1340 North Ninth St., Springfield, 217/782-7027 (please call ahead to assure that someone will be available to assist you). Copies of the documents will be made available upon request.

Comments are requested on the proposed issuance of the permit. Comments must be postmarked by midnight June 17, 2001. If sufficient interest is expressed in the permit, a hearing may be held. Requests for information, comments, and questions should be directed to Brad Frost, Division of Air Pollution Control, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, P.O. Box 19506, Springfield, Illinois 62794-9506, phone 217/782-2113, TDD phone number 217/782-9143.

If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts.

*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
 *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal.
 *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Hoping you can settle a dispute between my live-in boyfriend and I. We live in the Lake County, Illinois area. He has been unemployed since early January and was released from his job at (name withheld) because he had excessive tardiness. His boss gave him many chances and yet he kept saying to me that they would never fire him. Well they did and now he has been unemployed for the past 5 months. He was working in the shipping and receiving department for a mid size company for 7 months earning $9.00 an hour and before that his employment was pretty much in the same field of packaging and shipping for various companies. For several months now, he sits in front of his computer of these .com job search places, filling out applications all over the place. It has become his "hobby" as he puts it. He said that he figures sooner or later someone will offer him a job. I have told him that I think that he is taking the wrong approach to finding a job, but he doesn't agree. I try to tell him that sitting in front of his computer at home all day is no way to find a job. I am hoping that you can respond to this email because perhaps he needs to hear it from someone else, even though his friends tell him the same thing. I hope to hear from you. (via email address withheld)
A: We need to look at a couple of factors. First it is important to know that the .com's are not for everyone. The fact that he has worked pretty much in the same field of shipping and receiving, with this last position at $9.00/hr leads me to suggest that at his level he could possibly do much better searching on his own locally. There are many companies in Lake County (including the corporation he was employed with) who search for experienced shipping and receiving persons. A qualified S&R individual with a good work ethics and stability in their background should have little trouble getting solid employment with a strong company. I can tell you that the question here is not the availability of these jobs. The question is your friend's lack of responsibility and respect for his job. In a job market like we are in, to test the waters, so to speak, and believe that your boss won't fire you because you are indispensable is downright ridiculous. In his case, he proved it! By now I am sure you have also realized that he was not eligible to receive any unemployment compensation as he was released for cause. Sitting around in front of a computer hoping that a job will come to you is not a very pro-active approach. He would do much better to change his job search approach, his attitude towards showing up to work on time, his crazy notion that he is indispensable, possibly his late night activities keeping from getting to work on time and his choice of alarm clocks.
